functions in a manner that made failure impossible.

The proceedings of the meetings of the numerous committees have been promptly reported in detail in the columns of THE JOURNAL, and will be incorporated into the written history of the great event.

— If the neighbors keep on in the way they have been going for a couple of weeks past we will have to build an addition to our cellar to store apples in. Last week Harry F. Parker filled the Editorial Porringer full to the brim with the largest and fairest Baldwin apple really in vogue 30 or 40 histories and historical sketches of Woburn; Woburn and Boston news papers; speeches, poems, responses, toasts, and narratives of old settlers during the great celebration now closed etc. Harry did nobly, but this week Mr. Waterman Brown fairly out-Heroded Herod and manted our youthful cheeks with blushes. When it came to holding the apples neighbor Brown tuned to our domicile day after day the Editorial Porringer was literally nowhere and barrels and boxes had to be utilized. We have secured our winter supply, for which Messrs. Parker and Brown will please accept thanks.

— One of the pleasantest parties of this autumn was that given at the residence of Mr. Edmund R. Andrus, No. 41 Sturges street, last Friday evening, and it was a real surprise party to at least one of the people present—Mr. Andrus. Miss Mary A. Agnew and Miss Mary A. Crosby put their heads together some weeks ago and concluded to make Mr. Andrus a present of a life-size crayon portrait of himself, and thereupon they ordered of Mr. Charles R. Rosenquist the best one he could furnish. The result was a very fine and perfectly lifelike picture. Last Friday evening the above named ladies with about 25 invited guests assembled at No. 41 Sturges street, when and where the presentation of the portrait was made in an appropriate speech by Miss Agnew. Mr. Andrus was as surprised and delighted a person as one often sees. A fine supper, dancing and a very pleasant evening followed.

Celebration Squibs.
Those who saw both say the Woburn's decorations beat Gloucester's all to pieces.

Mr. A. Shuman, the widely known Boston merchant, was one of Mr. Hammond's 50 guests.

The Soldiers Monument was artistically draped and the Common was a "thing of beauty and a joy forever."

Mayor and Mrs. Thompson entertained about 100 guests at their home on Montvale Ave. after the Literary Exercises on Thursday.

It was feared that there would be a big army of hungry people here on but thanks to the Yankee love for a dollar there was food enough and to spare.

Mr. John R. Carter and Warren P. Adams were bound that the children should have something full as good as the adults had, and the result was a most delightful series of entertainments on Thursday afternoon and evening.

We Will.
Mr. Hobbs, please put this in the JOURNAL: By far the richest and most brilliant decorations were on Academy Hill. I went all over the city and I know. The most beautiful were the houses of Capt. Crane, Charlie Lund, Mr. Hinkley, Mr. Hayden, Mr. Jones, Mr. Johnson, and particularly Mr. Phinney's, and Mr. Barker's.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

Famed in Song and Story.
Octave Thane's "Stories of a Western Town," now running in Scribner's Magazine, is one of the best stories illustrating Western life and character which has been published for years. In the October number is described with an illustration "Three Kickapoo Indians, splendid in paint and feathers, peacefully vending the 'Famous Kickapoo Sagwa'."

The Grippe has again made its appearance in town, but the Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam sign in the druggist's window dispels all our fears of Grippe. It cures, and leaves the system in a healthy condition.

Charles H. Gooding.
The decease of Mr. Charles H. Gooding at his home on Church Ave. last Thursday forenoon was a sorrowful surprise to many people of Woburn. He had many warm friends here who will sincerely mourn his death. He left a wife and four small children to sorrow for the loss of a kind, generous husband and father. He was a nephew of Mr. J. Howard Nason, and other relatives attended his funeral on Saturday.

In Royal Style.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. W. Phinney entertained Governor Russell and Staff in Royal Style at their residence on Friday.

Coughing Leads to Consumption.
Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. The success following the graduates of the Burdett Business and Shorthand College, Boston, demonstrates the utility of educating at that institution.

"Ailing women, hear my story!"

"I was about dead with womb trouble when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

"I did not know what rest was for months. I was so dizzy and faint at times I thought I was dying. Oh! how my back did ache! and I was so cross and irritable!"

"I am to-day a living witness of the wonderful and almost miraculous effects of Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Relief came with it at once. My appetite came back. I slept at night. I am now as well as I ever was."

"If you wish for health, have faith in Mrs. Pinkham's treatment and medicine." — MRS. JENNIE ARTHUR, Taylor, Texas.

From the uterus and womb spring nearly all of the troubles of women.

Thousands of women write us to use their names in telling others how they have been cured by the Compound.

The owners of the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky propose to reproduce the "starry chamber" in the Mining building at the World's Fair.

It winds up like any good stem-winding watch, in about five seconds.

Honest it always was; now it is handsome—with jeweled movement, enamel dial, coin-silver or gold-filled case; either lady's or gentleman's watch. Far better than a Swiss watch at the price.

This is still low—kept down by American machinery and brains.

FIRST GRAND REPUBLICAN RALLY.
The first Republican Rally of the campaign will be held in Lyceum Hall on Wednesday evening, Oct. 19. Speakers: Ex-Gov. J. Q. A. Brackett, and William S. Knox of Lawrence, candidate for Congress.

Bert Poole, the famous cartoonist, will be an attractive feature and will introduce something new to the Political Stage. There will be the best of music. Come everybody!

ABOUT STATE BANKS.

The State bank issue doesn't "forge to the front" very rapidly in Democratic circles. Too many men lost money under the old system, when no one knew how often or rapidly the money in his pocket was changing its value. The luckless man was liable to deposit one hundred dollars in good money therein and find it was worth less when he wanted to use it a few days later to pay some honest bill with. It was a continual struggle for a man to get honest money, in exchange for honest work. But our present system makes one bank bill good as another and worth one hundred cents on the dollar when you take the money out of your pocket the same as when you put it in; and worth the same in all States of the Union. No one, unless "weak in the upper story," would exchange our present system for its predecessor.

A GOOD CANDIDATE.

The Democrats of the Sixth Middlesex Senatorial District have nominated John W. Johnson, Esq., of this city for their candidate, which seems to indicate pretty clearly that the present is what it is claimed to be, "a campaign of education." Mr. Johnson is one of the ablest and cleanest men in this District of any party and his election would be a credit to all concerned. The wonder is that the Democracy should have chosen him for their Senatorial candidate.

The personal popularity of Mr. Johnson and his well known and universally recognized integrity of character will be likely to give him a very large vote in Woburn, and he will doubtless prove a strong candidate in other sections of the District.

STANDS OUT IN GOLDEN CONTRAST.

Woburn's success in celebrating her 250 anniversary stands out in golden contrast with Somerville's pitiful and miserable attempt to steal Bunker Hill thunder for use in her ever-to-be-remembered birthday celebration—Charlestown Enterprise.

And didn't Woburn do the handsomest thing by her venerable and venerated parent, "Mother Charlestown"? And by the same token "Mother Charlestown" was splendidly represented at the Banquet by her gifted and favorite son, Hon. Philip J. Doherty.

A CANDIDATE.

The report reaches us that Mr. Twombly, one of the publishers of the Chronicle, will be the Reading Republican candidate for Representative from this District, and that he will have the unanimous support of his fellowtownsmen.

The Reading Twomblys are sterling men and prominent citizens, and the selection of one of them to be Major Hall's colleague will no doubt meet with cordial Republican approval throughout the District.

LODGE IN THE VAN.

The unanimity and cordiality with which Republican caucuses are adopting resolutions in favor of the election of Henry Cabot Lodge for the U. S. Senate must be very gratifying to that distinguished gentleman and his host of friends.

Similarly the people are voting almost without exception in favor of a Republican legislative nominating caucus to determine who the candidate shall be.

REGISTER.

Voters of Woburn, you ought to be on hand surely and at once at the Board of Registrars of Voters. Remember, if you don't get your names on the lists there will be no vote for you.

Look at the Board's announcement in the JOURNAL and note particularly the dates of their meetings for registering.

COLUMBUS DAY.

The Public Schools in this city, in common with schools all over America's fair domain, will celebrate in a fitting manner Columbus Day on next Friday, Oct. 21.

Each school, so Supt. Richardson informs us, will make up a programme to suit itself, but will be appropriate, patriotic, and interesting.

Hon. E. D. Hayden of this city has been appointed one of the three Commissioners to direct all operations for the abolition of grade railroad crossings on Chelsea Bridge Ave., a work that is expected to cost $500,000.

A wild-eyed son of the Hawk-eye State is perambulating Henry Cabot Lodge's District with a view of defeating that gentleman for Congress. The fellow, who professes to be a Republican and Protectionist, is evidently a crank of the first water.

LOCAL NEWS.

The annual reunion and assembly of the Ladies St. Charles Auxiliary Society is to be given on Oct. 20. Great preparations are being made for it.

The Woburn Democracy will fill up on eloquence from the lips of Dr. William Everett and Hon. John E. Fitzgerald at Lyceum Hall tomorrow night.

Mr. Amos Cummings is having printed on the letterheads a succinct enumeration of the advantages of Woburn as a residence city. Good scheme!

Mrs. Annie Reynolds, a prominent Boston dentist, formerly of this city, delivered a lecture on dentistry at the Mechanic Fair in Boston last Tuesday.

Nobody can say but that the fall weather so far has been all that the most exacting could ask for. But the ground is beginning to be strewn with autumn leaves.

Large and deeply interested congregations assembled at the Orthodox church last Sunday both morning and evening to listen to special sermons, or sermons on special themes, by Dr. March.

A large delegation from the First Congregational church in this city attended the Woburn Conference held in the Wakefield Congregational church last Tuesday. Many ladies were of the party.

Gage & Co., merchant tailors, have issued the newest autumn "Greeting" ever seen in this city. It is a daisy and matches admirably with their elegant new store front and the handsome stock of goods inside.

Last Friday evening, Oct. 7, there strayed from the residence of Mrs. E. N. Blake, No. 13 Abbot street, a tailless "Rabbit" kitten, of Maltese gray color, for the return of which a suitable reward will be paid.

Brethren, bear in mind that the first Woburn Republican Rally of the campaign will be held in Lyceum Hall on Wednesday evening, October 19. Bear in mind also that Bert Poole, the great cartoonist, will be there in all his glory.

On Thursday evening, Oct. 27, the ladies of the M. E. church will hold a sale and furnish a grand supper in the vestry of the church to obtain funds for church purposes. Full particulars will be given in the JOURNAL next week.

Mr. George S. Hill, who has been residing in Carroll, Iowa, for the past year or two, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Hiram Child, Pleasant street, this city. He brought two of the finest horses in the country with him. Be on the lookout for them.

"Baby Ruth" has no doubt by this time looked over the Anniversary Grand March composed by Miss Belle Menard for the celebration and delighted to that fair dandy and perhaps has learned to whistle it too. A copy was promptly sent to her.

Mr. H. H. Keay on Main st. opposite Salem st. has a very fine stock of books, school supplies, picture frames, etc., which he is selling at low figures. He does the very best kind of picture framing and is a young man worthy of patronage.

Among the professional calls which we received last Friday was a pleasant one from Editor H. A. Barton of the N. H. Argus and Spectator at Newport, N. H. He came down to visit his friends Mr. F. E. Lovell, Ph. D., and lady and take in the great celebration.

Yesterday was just the right kind of a day to go bee-hunting. Or to work over the stubble fields and through the pine groves for wild pigeons. Such days make one think of partridge shooting in the oak and beech openings that line the shore pastures. In fact, it was a typical October day.

Last Saturday Rev. Mr. Barrows of the Baptist church had his first experience in tying the knot that made two Russian hearts beat as one—to be plain, the nuptial knot. They have been in this country only a few weeks, but with the aid of an interpreter Mr. Barrows got them safely united at last.

The Board of Registrars of Voters desire it distinctly understood that the registry now in progress is for the National and State elections solely in which women have no part, and that they cannot be registered under the present notice. The registry of voters for the city election will take place after the Nov. elections of which the women (and men) will be duly notified, and may avail themselves of the privileges of registration. Will the women please make a note of this?

George M. Gerrish has entered the Yale Divinity School, second class, on examination, which speaks well for his scholarship, for Yale usually accepts her students if enter on the ground floor. He is a graduate of Tufts and has been a student in the theological department of that College since graduating.

As late in the season as last Saturday Mr. Warren P. Adams picked green peas from the vines in his garden at Central Square which were as fresh and tasted as pea-pods as any raised in June. The pods were plump and full and their contents fine. Green peas in October is a remarkable thing to boast of.

Mrs. L. M. Fogg, the popular milliner at 347 Main street, advertises to hold her Fall Opening on next Thursday and Friday, Oct. 20 and 21, for which she has laid in a superb stock of hats, bonnets, trimmings, etc. The ladies of Woburn and vicinity ought not to fail of visiting this opening of Mrs. Fogg's.

By reference to her card in this paper it will be seen that Miss Emma Folsk will open her fall teaching of banjo, guitar and mandolin on next Monday, Oct. 17. This lady is too well known as a teacher to need any commendations from the JOURNAL. She never fails to secure large classes from the very best families.

Reporter Tom Feeney of the Boston Herald was sent to Fall River by that paper to riddle the Globe's rather Reporter Trickey's big Boston murder "flake" and did the job in the most thorough manner. By Wednesday or Thursday this week Trickey's article must have been pretty full of punctures from Feeney's caustic pen.

The first fall meeting of the Woburn Woman's Club has been postponed from the date previously announced, October 21, to the following Friday, October 28. As October 21st, "Columbus Day," will be celebrated as a national holiday, the Directors of the W. W. C. have voted to change their usual day of opening the Club session to the following Friday.

They say Moreland and McCormack's Anniversary Souvenir is selling quite rapidly. It is a very fine work and every person in the least interested in Woburn and her 250th celebration should buy a copy of it for preservation. The opportunity to purchase should be improved at once for very soon the edition will be exhausted when none can be had.

The spool cotton representation of Woburn's new Army on exhibition in one of Willard Smith's show windows is made of 11,140 spools of Brook's spool cotton and is an exact counterpart, on a reduced scale, of the Army. Mr. C. Willard Smith was the architect and he and Chester R. Smith were the builders. Everyone says it is a neat and curious piece of work.

A Woburn lady who is a competent judge of good reporting sent us the following words of commendation last Monday morning: "Your most excellently written report of Woburn's celebration is the report we wish to send to friends remotely located. Permit me to state that you have done splendidly well in describing the varied phases of the 250th Anniversary." Thanks, Madam.

The Woburn Public Library Bulletin for 1892 has been printed and delivered at the Library and found to be a neat piece of work. The old system of cataloging, over which such unnecessary wrangle was made last year, is retained, and in connection with the Librarian Cutter in a preface to the lists of books says: "The Librarian will gladly render any aid desired to such as fail to understand the Catalogue as presented, or fail to find in it such works as are wanted." In this respect Librarian Cutter and Assistant Librarian Miss Pollard have always personified courtesy and patience.

The celebration was a good advertisement for the real estate agents here. People from abroad came and took a look at us and went away with the idea in their minds that they wanted some Woburn real estate. Good! They had several inquiries for that kind of property this week directly traceable to the advertising which the celebration gave us. A brisk real estate business will be the result of the advertisement.

This week Gregory has sold the Tyler estate corner of Main and Fowle st., to Mr. Thomas Moore, 74000 feet on the Pine Tree Club, having been born at 7217 feet on Reed st. to J. Lynch of Woburn. Pretty Good!

The funeral of Mr. Charles H. Gooding was held on Sunday, Rev. Dr. March conducting the religious exercises. Many friends of the deceased were present, and Crystal Font Lodge, I. O. O. F., of which he was a member, attended in a body and participated in the ceremonies. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful, the Old Fellows furnishing appropriate and handsome pieces. Mr. Gooding, we believe, was a member of the Pine Tree Club, having been born at 7217 feet on Reed st. to J. Lynch of Woburn. Pretty Good!

On Friday the East Middlesex carried 7,014 passengers. The writing in of the streets during the Parade was a wise thing. The Parade contained 3,000 people and was the best thing of the kind ever seen in the State. The saloons closed up during the Parade and kept closed until it was all over. They did well. A complete history of the Anniversary celebration is to be published in pamphlet form at $2 per copy.

Woburn has made a great celebration this week, and she has reason to be proud of it.—Boston Record.

There were only 5 arrests for intoxication during all day Friday—a record that Woburn need not be ashamed of.

The Antiquarian exhibition by A. W. Whitehead attracted crowds of people on both days. It was composed of rare and valuable relics.

The Fifth Regiment didn't add greatly to its laurels by marching. Wonder if that was the best they could do? Co. G did finely though.

Oh, such throngs of people that came and went by the steam cars! And yet there was not a serious accident or mishap through the whole of it.

The head and tail of the Parade stuck each other at Main and Broad streets and occasioned quite a halt. From that fact it can be seen that the line was a long one.

The Committees are busy at work figuring out how much the whole thing cost. If the appropriation comes anywhere near holding out a good many people will be surprised.

The three Globe artists who were here on Friday to take pictures of prominent features said the decorations and street procession surpassed anything they had ever seen on a similar occasion.

Chief Marshal Wyer took his big Parade through without a hitch. He was seconded by a prime staff and good Division Marshals and Staffs. The whole thing moved like clockwork.

A great many people, especially old citizens, were happy to see Dr. Ephraim Cutter at the celebration. He enjoyed it, and nothing would have kept him away from it but absolute inability to get here.

One of the very brightest and best of the after-dinner speeches was made by Rev. Elijah Harmon, pastor of the Wilmington church. It was right to the point, humorous, sharp, breezy, and frigate.

Superintendents Sewell and Wentworth of the No. Woburn and East Middlesex roads lauded the crowds in the very best shape, but it taxed their ingenuity, horseflesh, and electric motors to the utmost capacity.

Rev. William C. Barrows, in behalf of the Staff, presented Marshal Graves of Division 1 with a handsome Baton just before starting the Parade. It was a graceful acknowledgment of the merits of their Chief by the Staff and a pleasing incident to the Doctor.

Col. Henry Russell, brother of Governor Russell and member of his Military Family, said the entertainment of the Governor and Staff at Woburn surpassed in elegance, elaborateness, and tone anything experienced by them on any similar occasion.

At the ball at the Woburn celebration Thursday night Mrs. (Gov.) Russell were a gown of pale blue and rose pink satin very effectively combined. The décolleté beauty was edged with lace and pearl garniture. She wore a necklace of pearls.—Boston Herald.

Governor Russell paid a high and well merited compliment to the Woburn High School Battalion for their correct marching and soldierly bearing as they passed along the route. The boys feel very proud of the Governor's approval and will hereafter prove his loyal friends.

The First Corps Cadets were handsomely provided for in the Woburn Block. The cadets and their families to a brilliant display of Japanese lanterns and fireworks on Thursday evening after the reception at his residence, Col. Beal, who did so much and such fine things for the city and private individuals for the celebration, voluntarily contributed this pleasing feature to the Mayor's home celebration and that too without any previous announcement of his intention. Many neighbors came over and thronged the parlors of the Thompson residence to see and enjoy Col. Beal's beautiful exhibition and were delighted. The general opinion prevailing among the company that Col. Beal not only knows how to show up and give a first-class pyrotechnic show but that he has a good, juicy heart under his broad waistcoat.

The Antiquarian and Loan Exhibition.

This feature of the great Anniversary Celebration deserves a separate notice.
Excepting the street parade it attracted more attention than any other of the many interesting things which Woburn asked the public to come and look at on Oct. 6 and 7.

Anticipating the rush Librarian Cutter ordered a total suspension of the regular business of the institution during the continuance of the event and he and Assistant Librarian, Miss Emily Pollard, and Mr. Francis, the Janitor, gave themselves up to the exclusive and pleasant task of entertaining all who came. The kindness and urbanity of these officials was keenly appreciated and all who visited the great Book Room, the Art Gallery, the Antiquarian Room, and the Loan Annex, felt grateful for the attentions paid them and pains taken to make their call interesting and instructive.

The Loan Exhibition was a grand success. With Judge P. L. Couvreur (Chairman) at the head, ably seconded by Mr. Alvah S. Wood (Secretary), enjoying the judicious counsel of Albert Thompson, the Artist, it could hardly have been anything else than a grand success, and that it was most emphatically. Notwithstanding the wisdom displayed in choosing the above named gentlemen for its managers, the affair could have hardly become one of much note but for the hearty co-operation of the people of Woburn. These in great numbers entered heart and hand into the scheme, and the result was as we have stated.

Hon. J. W. Foster, Secretary of State of the United States, who tarried among the "antiquities" all the time he had to spare on Friday, said it was by far the most unique and complete exhibition of the kind he ever saw.
Pretty good authority! A Middlesex County community 250 years old would naturally be expected to be full and running over with ancient things—old military relics, yellow documents of strange composition, timepieces, rare china, pewter platters (cherished by the dames of long ago), and all and singular of the innumerable things to contain the names of a volume would be required. Woburn abounded in just these and many other queer, odd and ancient things, and the people seemed to vie with each other in bringing them out from their hiding places and loaning them to the Committee for the great 250th celebration.

An enumeration of the scores and scores of antiquarian articles might be given here, but as that would convey to the mind of the reader a very inadequate idea of the extent and character of the exhibit, and would be withal so unsatisfactory, that we content ourselves with naming a few only of the hundreds of "antiquities" which the diligence of the Art Loan Committee and a prompt and generous response from the people brought together in a large, light, airy room in the basement of the Library adjacent to and connected with the regular Antiquarian Museum of the institution. These are a very few of the rare things the "Loan" contained:

Gun used in the Battles of Lexington and Bunker Hill; a collection of delicately decorated China by Grace Bryant, and two beautiful ones by Mrs. Edwin B. Blanchard, and Fannie
S. Carwell; fine Needlework by Mrs.
Timothy Winn and Mrs. Charles G.
Grammer; rare piece of Kensington or Cathedral work wrought by B. E.
Parker in 1805; famous telescope rifle, a famous "shotgun" made by Mr.
Marshall Fidd of No. Woburn; medallion of Count Rumford, with an interesting history; silk quilts of vergous designs, one containing 1657 pieces, no two alike, made by a little girl of 12 years of age; mortar-andpestle, 1760; cane used by great-grandfather of Mrs. Sherman Converse, who killed 2 British soldiers and took one prisoner; beautiful old china, etc., etc.

The Second Meetinghouse.

The second Meetinghouse was built in 1672 on the southerly slope of Meeting House Hill, on the site now occupied by the skating rink on Montvale Avenue.—An. Prog. His. Localities.
This statement is undoubtedly erroneous. About 15 years ago, while digging down a part of Meeting House Hill for building purposes, Mr. Amos Cummings discovered what was unquestionably the site of the second meetinghouse erected in Woburn. It was located about 75 feet from Main street directly in the rear of the buildings now occupied by Lovell's drugstore and Boston Clothing Company on a plateau only a little distance below the summit of the Hill.

The foundation was of stone, about 30x50 feet in size, containing pillars built of the old-fashioned thin wide bricks, and among the debris spikes and other iron used in building were found by Mr. Cummings. The discovery of this ancient foundation was a surprise to him and he invited Mrs.
Ruth Leathe, owner of the property, mother of Ruth Maria and Samuel H.
Leathe, to examine and explain its existence there. She confidently pronounced it the foundation of the old meetinghouse on Meeting House Hill—the second church built in Woburn in 1672.

Additional proof of the correctness of the statement that the foundation discovered by Mr. Cummings was that of the meetinghouse is furnished by the fact that a road lead from the thoroughfare now known as Montvale Avenue to it, traces of which may yet be seen in the rear of the undertaking establishment of Messrs. B. A. & C. E.
Tripp.

These facts would seem to show conclusively that the location of the meetinghouse on Meeting House Hill as designated by the Anniversary Committee is not the spot on which the ancient structure stood.

Literary Notices.

The Columbus interest culminates, as it should, in the October CENTURY, contemporaneously with the celebrations at New York and Chicago, the frontispiece being the newly brought out "Lotto" portrait of Columbus, owned by Mr. J. W. Ellsworth, of Chicago. It is accompanied by an explanatory paper by the critic John C. Van Dyke. In the same number, the Spanish statesman, Castelar, writes of Columbus's homeward voyage after the great discovery; and the architect
Van Brunt describes the Fisheries Building, the exquisite Art Building, and the United States Government Building at the World's Fair. In addition to this is an editorial on the Fair, in which it is declared that Chicago, in the housing of the World's Fair, has not only equaled but has surpassed Paris. The editor adds,
"We shall have an exhibition more dignified, beautiful, and truly artistic than any the world has seen." An article of immediate and almost sensational interest is Professor Jenks's paper on Money in Practical Politics, describing the methods, shamefully common, in what are called practical politics in this country. He goes into most curious details, and discusses the causes of corruption and proposed remedies. The article is editorially indorsed, with further suggestions as to means of prevention. The opening page of the number is a very striking piece of autobiography by Archibald Forbes, the famous war-correspondent, who describes in the first of a series of two papers what he saw of the Paris Commune. Accompanying this is a reproduction of Hubert Herkomer's painting of Archibald Forbes, also some original drawings made for the article by the distinguished Paris artist, Vierge; and other illustrations, not the least interesting of which is a group showing types of petroleuses. This number of the CENTURY rounds out its twenty-second year. With the next number begin several new and interesting magazine features.

The October ST. NICHOLAS ends the nineteenth volume. The shelf that holds these nineteen volumes is a full treasury of bright, instructive, helpful, and delightful reading for the young.
The prospectus for the coming year is a proof that the magazine has no intention of resting upon its well-earned record. Volcanoes and Earthquakes receive their full meed of notice in the October ST. NICHOLAS. The pictures and in text told the story of how and why the earth shakes and the volcanoes emit melted stone and fiery steam.
Professor Chester and Mrs. Charles F.
Hart explain the modus, and Mr.
Ewing Gibson, of Charleston, S. C., gives a thrilling account of the operandi, —to quote from the old ditty who exclaimed ruefully, "I un'erstan't all about modus, but whar am de operandi?" The pictures by Thomas Moran are beautiful black-and-white drawings, and are particularly pleasing in these days of photograph reproductions. Charles E. Lummis calls to the attention of young and old, in the October ST. NICHOLAS, a valuable and neglected historical relic. He calls it The Stone Autograph-Album. It is the cliff called by the Spanish explorers El Morro, The Castle. Upon its face are scratched with the sword-point the names and remarks of the early Spanish conquerors of the Southwest. The article is illustrated by facsimiles of some of the more interesting of these.

There are two particularly funny pages in the October ST. NICHOLAS: A Page of Fun, by Malcolm Douglas, illustrated by Birch, and Inanimate Things Animated, the first pictures of a new series by P. Newell—whose humorous work is well known. Mr. Newell's ability to do beautiful things as well as funny ones is shown by his charming little Indian Summer in the same number.

Berkley Temple in Boston was the scene of a very pretty wedding, Wednesday evening, October 12, it being the occasion of the marriage of Rev. C. F. Hersey, pastor of the church in Burlington, and Miss Sarah Dow Weeks. The church was filled with friends of the bridegroom and bride, and the scene as the bridal party entered was very charming. The bride was dressed in a tasteful traveling gown and carried a large bouquet of roses. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. B. Tobey of Berkley Temple. After receiving the congratulations of their friends, Mr. and Mrs.
Hersey took their departure for parsonage in Burlington, where they will be "at home" to any who may call. Mr.
Hersey has gained many friends since he came to the parish and all will welcome Mrs. Hersey to her new home

One reason why Scott's Emulsion of Pure Nor-that its curative properties are unequalled. It cures

The Tariff and the Farmer.

No. 2.

To show how this tariff tax falls upon our farmers, we give a list of the amount which has to be paid for a few of the common articles which they use.

List of Tariff Charges on Certain Articles in Common Use:

Iron	50 cents on the dollar.
Steel	50 " " "
Furniture	35 " " "
Blankets	50 " " "
Cotton Cloth	40 " " "
Woolen Cloth	50 " " "
Manufactured Clothing	50 " " "
Hats	50 " " "
Socks	50 " " "
Table Ware	50 " " "
Glass and Earthen Ware	45 " " "
Carpets	50 " " "
Drugs and Medicines	35 " " "

As the tariff levies a duty on several thousand articles, hundreds of which more or less directly affect the farmer's purse, the above list affords only samples of the taxation which weighs upon him.

WHITELAW REID, . . . of New York

GREAT REPUBLICAN RALLY.

If anyone had felt that the Republicans of Woburn were lacking in enthusiasm he would have had that erroneous idea entirely dispelled from his mind by attending the Grand Rally at Lyceum Hall last Wednesday evening. There was no lack of enthusiasm in that gathering of sturdy and sterling Republicans.

The meeting was a rouser! M. T. Allen, Esq., never presided over a political rally with more grace or made a better political speech in his life. He handled the issues of the campaign in a masterly manner, and introduced the speakers in the most felicitous style. There is no more servile man among us for a presiding officer than Lawyer Allen.

Of course the speeches by ex-Gov. Brackett and Congressional Candidate Knox were more than up to grade. They are able men—both of them—and have the whole story of home protection and sound money at their tongue's end. They held the big hall full of people right to the point all through.

Cartoonist Bert Poole added touches to the great meeting that were novel and highly entertaining, and the Woburn Band discoursed the best of campaign music.

The meeting will make votes for the Republicans.

STILL PEGGING AWAY.

Citizen Faxon of Quincy has opened his campaign for the repeal of the "Drunk Law" so called and fired his first gun. It comes in the shape of a printed broadside which he is scattering lavishly among the voters of the State. He has also, in another broadside, made his annual announcement of hostility to the Republican party in which he is particular to state that he had just contributed $1000 to the Third Party campaign fund.

Seemingly there is nothing that Faxon loves so well as notoriety. To purchase it he paid over that $1000. To keep his name before the public, and for nothing else, he expends large sums of money in printers' ink every fall.

In his latest bulletin Faxon brings forth no new facts or arguments or repeats old ones for the repeal of the "Drunk Law" that will have the least weight with people of sense. Every candid man capable of correct thinking knows that the law is a good one and ought to stand. But that doesn't matter. Faxon must do something to keep himself before the public, and it might as well be the "Drunk Law" as anything else.

THE HOME PROSPECT.

The prospect for Mr. Haile's election has improved very materially in the last two or three weeks. A month ago a plenty of Republicans could be found in the State who feared that Governor Russell would pull through on his personal popularity again this year and leave Mr. Haile in the lurch as he did Allen.

It is different now. Principles are being fought for and candidates are cutting less of a figure in the campaign than heretofore. Mr. Russell's position on the great questions in issue is not in accord with a majority of Massachusetts voters and although he is personally popular and a "mighty good fellow" business men are not going to permit their liking for him as a man to interfere with a right discharge of political duty.

In this part accounts for the change that has recently taken place in the relative position of Mr. Haile and Mr. Russell before the public. Mr. Haile stands on a platform which makes for the best interests of the State, while the success of Russell's principles would destroy the business on which alone New England thrives. The voters understand this, and their appreciation of the situation makes Haile's election a foregone conclusion.

CITY ELECTION.

The voters of Woburn are not wholly given over to the National and State elections at the present time. Considerable thinking, not to mention wirepulling, in connection with our charter election is being indulged in if all reports are true. Pilyaping is going on in various quarters and many aspirants for the Mayoralty are serenely bobbing up all over the city.

Unless, as usual, all signs fail in this particular drouth, local politics will witness singular sights early in December. There will come to light curious combinations. The fact that "politics makes strange bed-fellows" will be emphasized in a remarkable manner. There will be a fusing of cliques and factions that for years have not spoken as they passed by. Rum and prohibition will join hands and pull together. "The world, the flesh and the devil" are likely to work into each other's hands to accomplish the same end.

In short, if half the stories afloat are true there will be lively times here at our next city election.

HALL AND TWOMBLY.

As confidently predicted by the Journal, Major Hall and Mr. W. Twombly were nominated by the Republican Representative Convention last Tuesday evening to represent the 14th Middlesex District, which they will do without any sort of doubt. It need not be said here that the nominations are good ones and will hold strong at the polls. Both gentlemen are well and favorably known in the District; both enjoy the confidence and esteem of their fellow citizens; both are intelligent and level-headed; and they will represent Woburn and Reading in the next Legislature in a manner that will reflect credit on the District.

GRAND TEMPERANCE RALLY.

The ball is opened! There is music in the air! Thoroughly cognizant of the low state of the temperance cause in this city, and appreciating their duty to their fellowmen, the active, radical, aggressive, and only real temperance people of Woburn have advertised for a big Rally in Lyceum Hall at 3 o'clock on next Sunday afternoon to be held under the auspices of "The Committee of One Hundred," at which there will be speaking by eminent temperance advocates, including Rev. George A. Crawford, D. D.; fine music; and a cordial greeting for all. The Committee say: "Come, Everybody!"

GOOD SPEECH.

Mr. Blaine's speech at the home of candidate Reid in Westchester county, N. Y., last Saturday, was short and sweet. Although he is sick and weak his words had the old time ring to them, and his praise of President Harrison was peculiarly gratifying. It is not probable that Mr. Blaine will make any more speeches in this campaign, but we all know where he stands on the issues at stake and how he feels towards the men who have been chosen for standard-bearers. His words will have a telling effect on the result in November.

The Andover Townsman, an excellent paper, by the way, issued very neat "Wooden Wedding" souvenir last week, for one of which we return thanks.

By reference to our business columns it will be seen that Mr. A. C. Nichols, the well known baker of Woburn street, Reading, is prepared to do first-class catering for all sorts of parties "with neatness and despatch." He has the reputation of being one of the best caterers in the country and can be relied on to do the very finest work at the lowest prices.

Of course our old and esteemed friend Mr. L. Houghton Allen is far from being a professional tramp, nevertheless, for a so-called artist, he is a very good deal of a failure. He has pulled staves at Worcester, Mass., and until further notice his P. O. address will be Atchison, Kansas.

The will of the late Jonathan Tidd of North Woburn has been admitted to Probate, objections to it having been voluntarily withdrawn by the contestants. On last Wednesday a settlement was arrived at which was entirely satisfactory to all parties to the will and the large property of the deceased will be equitably divided between the heirs.

Mr. Phillip Richardson's "Library" souvenir is something that everybody—or at least, every Woburnite—ought to buy and put away for future reference. It is one of the best pictures of our beautiful Public Library extended and it is a fair sample of the quality of the products of the art establishment of which Mr. Richardson is the head turns out.

John Butler, in manhood known as "Deacon John," was the first child born of Irish parents in Woburn. His father was James Butler, the Planter, and he was born on July 22, 1677. "Dea. John" was the first settler of Pelham, N. H., and his daughter was the first child born there. The Butler family were Norman, English, and Protestant Irish.

Miss L. F. Hurd, whose business card appears in this paper, is one of Woburn's fixtures and almost a landmark. Her family used to live close by the home of Wendell Phillips in Boston by whom they were employed so much that the two households were neighborly and quite intimate. Miss Hurd has carried on the business here 20 years and always satisfied the public.

The State Park Commissioners made a flying visit to Woburn last Saturday to officially inspect her system of "breathing holes." Mayor Thompson and Park Commissioners Jones, DeLoria and Gregory took them in tow and pointed out things. According to the Boston Globe they fell deeply in love with Woburn and proposed to turn nearly the whole city into a park.

The unique tablet souvenirs of Woburn's anniversary published by Pierce and Conn are gems and are having a good sale, the celebration being such a great success that every body wants one or more as a memento. These gentlemen were so busily engaged with their newspaper duties that they were unable to give attention to the souvenirs during the two days of the great occasion, but have reduced the price and are pushing their sale.

We take especial pleasure in directing special attention to the professional card of Miss Irma G. Taylor in this issue of the JOURNAL. This young lady has had a thorough musical education obtained with a view of making piano teaching her vocation, in which we have no doubt she will succeed. She has had the best of teachers, is at ease in all modern methods, and will be sure to give the best of satisfaction to patrons and pupils.

Jack McConnell's Central House Cafe was formally opened to the public on last Monday and already people are beginning to think it is just the thing. It is one of the neatest and pleasantest eating houses in the country, and the tables are supplied with everything the market affords in full abundance.

In fact, the Cafe fills a long felt want and will be well patronized. Mr. McConnell makes a specialty of society dinners and catering for parties.

The Russell Counter Company are doing a larger business at their factory on Beacon street this year than ever before. At no period of its existence has the factory turned out so many goods as at the present time and the demand for them was never better. New machinery of the latest improved patterns has been lately put in which the experienced hands, and thus the products of the factory are of the best quality and are sought for in the markets.

The Woburn Brass Band are furnishing a good deal of company music this fall as well as for other public occasions. They played for the Republican Rally last Wednesday evening at Lyceum Hall, and today are furnishing marching airs for the Peabody-Columbus celebration. Mr. White of the U. S. Naval Band at the Charlestown Navy Yard is present leader, and we notice that Johnny Andrews, one of the members, Young Andrews, they say, is destined to become an A 1 musician.

The Silver Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Murdoch was pleasantly celebrated at their Montvale Avenue residence last Monday evening. A large number of friends were present, many of them coming from neighboring towns and cities. The cards of invitation bore in plain type the legend "No Presents," notwithstanding which the worthy couple were generously remembered in the way of tokens of love and respect. Everything connected with the affair was elegant and delightful.

Silas W. Gordon, who up to a few weeks ago kept a restaurant in Windsor Hotel, this city, and who has recently been keeping a boarding house at Wakefield, attempted to kill his wife by shooting her last Monday evening on himself and came near ending his life. Jealousy is said to have been the motive for his act. After locking himself and wife in a room he fired twice at her, so she says, neither shots taking effect. He then shot himself and received a dangerous wound near the heart.

In this issue of the JOURNAL we publish an announcement of the date of the opening of the Evening School in this city together with other information necessary to be had by pupils. The benefits derived from this School have been great. Its advantages are not fully realized except by those who have been brought into contact, either personally or by members of the family, with it and have had an opportunity of judging of its work. Numerous young people have acquired a good practical education at it; many a young man has been thoroughly fitted for the business of life who would have been deprived of an education but for its existence. It is one of the best of Woburn's many efficient educational institutions, and it is to be hoped that there will be no gaps in the classes of the Evening School this term.

Mr. Parker of Reading nominated Willie E. Twombly of that town.

John R. Carter nominated Henry C. Hall of Woburn. Both were declared the nominees unanimously. The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Republicans of the 14th Middlesex District favor a legislative cause for the nomination of a candidate for the United States Senate, and the nominees of this convention, if elected, shall secure the nomination of Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge.

Major Hall was sent for and made a few remarks.

The following named were chosen the District Committee:—Walter S. Parker and George L. Pratt of Reading; and Joseph G. Pollard, Edward H. Lonsbury, B. Frank Waldron of Woburn.

Columbus Day.

All over our broad land the name of Christopher Columbus is being honored today. Oct. 21 is the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America by that bold navigator, and in memory of the great event the World's Columbian Fair is to be dedicated with imposing ceremonies and wondrous pomp at Chicago today, and all the public schools in the country are celebrating the anniversary with music and oratory and many other things. The Mayor of Chicago announced that 100,000 people would march in the procession at Chicago. The Governors of all the States were expected to be present and participate. The noblest dignitaries of the land were to be there in great numbers, and of distinguished people from European countries there could be no stint. Chicago expected that Oct. 21 would be the greatest day in her history up to date. If the connections were all made according to the program, the New York Columbian celebration last week was a piling to that with which the World's Fair at Chicago will be dedicated today. It is an event of world-wide importance in which all the civilized nations of the earth are interested and at which nearly all of them will be represented. Tonight and tomorrow the delegates will bring long stories about this great celebration and then the people here on the Atlantic coast will be able to see the great Columbus celebration at Chicago.

Last Sunday was "Columbus Sunday" and was celebrated by many of the churches everywhere with appropriate ceremonies. Just why the churches should vie with each other in honoring the discoverer of America is not so clear as it might be. If history tells the truth, Christopher Columbus, from a religious and moral standpoint, was a pretty tough character and will hardly stand the test for the honor which is conferred upon him by Pope of Rome at the urgent request of many high church prelates and other rulers in all Christian countries. He was not a very noble person by any means. He probably discovered America, which may or may not have been a good thing, but when it comes to elevating him to the rank of sainthood it might be well enough to pause and reflect a little.

Nevertheless, the first Sunday preceding Oct. 21 has been called "Columbus Sunday," but it will probably fall into what Mr. Grover Cleveland calls "innocuous desuetude" after the "fuss and feathers" of the great Columbus celebration at Chicago.

As we can find out the idea of a "National Columbian Public School Celebration" originated in the brain of Mr. Francis Bellamy, one of the Editors of The Youth's Companion of Boston, and the remarkable fruits of his thought and labor show what advertising can do when judiciously handled, and how easily it is "worth." An Executive Committee were appointed, of which Mr. Bellamy was chosen chairman, and he kept his office in The Youth's Companion building, where, in the work of organization was carried on and from whence came the orders, etc., for the school of the country. It was a great scheme for somebody. It involved a vast amount of work on the part of Mr. Bellamy, but he made a grand success of it, and as before remarked, nearly every public school in this country is singing songs and hymns, reciting odes and poems, speaking verses and dialogues, all in honor of the memory of Christopher Columbus, who, it is quite generally supposed, discovered the Western Continent 400 years ago today.

The Woburn public schools are doing their part of the celebrating nobly. Flags are flying proudly from the staff of each of the numerous pedagogic establishments of the city. It is supposed that either their removal to the corner of Bedford and Washington streets, to a building newly fitted especially for them, improvements might well cease for a number of years; but, on the contrary, a large increase of business has made it necessary for them to further enlarge their establishments, and so, in the rear of the second floor, a new room has been fitted up which is now opened and contains a full line of rich furs.

Each of the dozen or more rooms is well-stocked with a line of goods equal to any on this side of the Atlantic. Any one who goes to Springer Brothers, whether for a ready-made or custom-made garment, is sure of being suited. They are now showing their fall and winter goods, and many novelties entirely fresh this season are shown.

Each school has its own celebration. The programmes for them were made out and submitted to Superintendent Richardson last week, and include a series of interesting exercises. For example, the following is what the High School has laid out for its task today:

Choral invocation by school. Daniel R. Dimick, President's proclamation. Philip M. Brown, Recitation, Columbus. Miss Peshaw, Recitation, The Age of Columbus. Miss Russell, Essay, The Columbus Day. Miss McCormick, Essay, The First Voyage. Miss Callahan, Essay, The Land Discovered. Miss Conn, Essay, America in its Early Days. Miss Owen, Essay, America's Progress. Miss McDougall, Recitation, The America of Today. Miss Carter, School, Speed Our Republic. School, Reading address, Meeting of the Four Centuries. William E. Rogers, Reading of ode, Columbus Day. William E. Shaw, Declaration, Responsibility to Our Country. Charles T. O'Brien, Salutation of day. Singing, America.

At the Cummings School the exercises include an address by Rev. Dr. March, which will no doubt be something worth listening to. Singing is a prominent feature of the orders of exercises, the grand old hymn, "America," being duly honored with prominent place on all of them. Rev. Mr. Smith, the author of "America," was born on Oct. 21, a fact that the schools ought to remember while carrying through their Columbus celebration.

Programmes of the schools might be given here, but with hardly a hope of finding many readers should we print them all. They bear strong family resemblance to each other, Columbus and his achievements are being the burden of their song from beginning to end.

Boston is in the midst of a great Columbus celebration today. All of the cities and towns hereabout and elsewhere that are in touch with the Columbus spirit are making a holiday of it, and the schools in them are giving appropriate entertainments. But we venture the statement that nothing is being done in Woburn better style than right here in Old Woburn. The teachers at the various schools are deeply interested; the pupils are enthusiastic; Superintendent Richardson is heartily in the school board have done everything to make the occasion a triumph; and we'll be bound to say that the Woburn celebration is the best of its kind in the city. The public schools of Woburn acquired distinction as the best of their kind in carrying out their part of the grand Columbus National School Celebration on this 21st of Oct., 1892.

The Woburn Woman's Club will hold its first fall meeting in Music Hall, on Friday afternoon, October twenty-eight, from three to five. It will be in the form of an afternoon "Tea." The literary features will be quite simple, and they will consist of nonsense rhymes and verses—the original work of members. The President will receive informally; then will come the jingles, followed by music and coffee. Only members of the club are invited; but it is hoped that a large number of those who may attend and embrace this infrequent and pleasant opportunity of meeting personally the President and the other officers. It is the desire of the Directors that every one shall have a truly good time, and to ensure this all old members are asked not only to be happy themselves with their own friends, but to bring with them a company of those as can may attend and embrace this infrequent and pleasant opportunity of meeting personally the President and the other officers. Woburn's Celebration.

From Sunday Oct. 3, to Saturday Oct. 8, the neighboring city of Woburn was one of the busiest places in the Commonwealth, every one being interested in the celebration of the anniversary of the incorporation of the town. The celebration properly opened with the exercises in the old First Parish Church, which we mentioned last week. From that time till Thursday decorations, tent raisers, caterers, painters, etc., were busy as bees, and when the morning of Oct. 6th dawned the bright sun shone on preparations for a grand event of which every one concerned had reasons to be proud. Thursday was devoted to hall exercises and games for the amusement of all, closing with the grand ball in the evening, and good weather made these in every way a success alike satisfactory to those who planned and participated and to those thousands who were spectators merely. The grand event culminated on Friday in the military and civic parade of the early portion of the day and the banquet in the afternoon. The parade was the most harmonious in arrangement and charming in view, for one of its size, we have ever seen. It was nearly two hours in passing, and nothing in its entire length detracted from the general pleasing effect. Any attempt at details in these columns would be out of place, but we feel an event so well conceived and properly carried out is worthy this word of praise and general congratulation. For courtesies extended the editor desires to return thanks, assuring our friends of the Press Committee that on occasion we shall be proud to reciprocate in any way within our power.—Arlington Advocate.

Another Celebration.

Mr. O. J. Stough, a Director of the First National Bank at San Diego, California, writes to inform us that San Diego's 35th Anniversary celebration lately held (100 "better" than Woburn) was a triumph in every respect. Its salient features were slightly different from those of Woburn. For instance, San Diego indulged in bull fights, cocking mains, wild Indian riding and lassoing, old Mexican games in which legs and arms and heads were more or less broken and smashed, the presentation of Spanish customs on the Pacific coast 350 years ago, and many other things that would look odd and queer to Puritan eyes. But Mr. Stough writes that the people of that unfortunate section of this glorious Union into which "Boston Culture" has not yet penetrated were reasonably satisfied with their 35th anniversary celebration and as jolly over it perhaps as though their ancestors had sprung from Plymouth Rock. And we have no doubt he tells the truth.

"Not all is gold that glitters" is a true saying; it is equally true that not all newspaper is as labelled. If you would be sure of the genuine article, ask for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and take no other. Health is too precious to be trifled with.

Looking Ahead.

We cheerfully complied with the request to put the names of General Chas. H. Taylor, of the Boston Globe, and his son, Chas. H. Taylor, Jr., on the mailing list of Printers Ink for 25 years, and have since had the pleasure of receiving the bill ($50). If occasion should arise for adding the name of C. H. T., 3d, in a few years, the date of payment can be adjusted by shortening the time a little for the old folks.—Printers Ink.

No shortening of time, if you please, but clap his name on as a new subscriber.

Boston Theatres.
THE BOWDOIN SQUARE.
"Shadows of a Great City" has enjoyed a phenomenal run at this popular theatre, the house having been crowded with appreciative people at each performance. The play is richly staged and the management spare no pains to please their patrons. Next week Lewis Morris will appear at the Bowdoin Square in Faust.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.
Few plays have achieved greater success or been accorded by the public greater recognition than "The Silver King." This is likely the Boston public and never failed to draw. "The Gray Mare" has been the attraction this week but this and tomorrow evening and Saturday afternoon will be given "The Cherry Ball," a fine play. The Company will give "Squire Kate" next week, a new play in Boston.

THE HOLLS.
Mr. Daniel Frohman's Company have played to crowded houses at the Hollis all this week. The Company are favorites every performance. "The Gray Mare" has been the attraction this week but this and tomorrow evening and Saturday afternoon will be given "The Cherry Ball," a fine play. The Company will give "Squire Kate" next week, a new play in Boston.

THE BOSTON.
Next week will be the last of Denman Thompson's "The Old Homestead" and it is likely the Boston public and never failed to draw. "The Gray Mare" has been the attraction this week but this and tomorrow evening and Saturday afternoon will be given "The Cherry Ball," a fine play. The Company will give "Squire Kate" next week, a new play in Boston.

BOSTON MUSEUM.
"Agatha" has proved a winning card at the Museum and there appears to be no abatement in the public interest in it. At every performance "Agatha" a large and highly intelligent audience has been present to enjoy its rare merits and the management to its efforts to please. Mr. Field has recently purchased a curtain raiser, entitled "Faithful James," in which Mr. George W. Wilson will have a part, particularly suited to him. The charming little play has been a most popular feature of the programme at the Court Theatre, London, for some months past.

THE GLOBE.
If one can judge from the size of the audience that greeted Dibley Bell and his Opera Company at the Globe on Monday evening several weeks would be required to satisfy the patrons of this popular house with "Jupiter." The story is told in two acts with magnificent scenery. Mr. Bell as "Jupiter" was exceedingly fine, as was Julian Edwards and the songs were applauded heartily. It is an excellent one and included J. Aldrich Libby, the Boston baritone of a few years ago. The chorus are an excellent body of singers well chosen to give artistic effects in the stage groupings.

THE PARK.
The Daisy Duke of Spain and her mortgage-haunted spouse have begun the seventh week of their highly successful season at the Park, Boston, and crowds continue to throng the cozy play house. The original engagement of "1892" was to have closed last week, but the illness of Lotta, who was booked as the next attraction, enables the management of the Park to keep Fortin and Isabella in Boston for six weeks more. It is quite possible that a short space of time like a month and a half will still fail to satisfy the people who want to see how a real and cleverly discovered. The Park has made a reputation in the last two years as the home of long and dramatic plays. The Park has made a reputation in the last two years as the home of long and dramatic plays. The First Corps Cadets.

As a bit of Anniversary Celebration after which we desire to express our own and the general feeling of pleasure and satisfaction with which the many thousands of people in Woburn on Oct. 7 witnessed the splendid street marching, military exercises, and dress parade of the First Corps Cadets (the Governor's Body Guard) on that memorable occasion. From start to finish the movements of the Corps were simply perfect. They moved just like a piece of delicately adjusted machinery, and the dress parade excelled anything of the kind ever witnessed in Woburn.

The First Corps Cadets are one of the crack military organizations of the State, ranking in age and character next to the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company.

Another Democratic Rally.

The Democracy of Woburn will hold their second grand campaign rally at Lyceum Hall on next Wednesday evening, Oct. 26. The speakers are to be Hon. George Fred Williams and Major John C. Burke. Ex-Mayor George F. Bean will preside, and the National Band will furnish music. The Woburn Democrats are making a desperate effort to carry the city for Cleveland.

Undisputed Merit.

The great success of the Royal Baking Powder is due to the extreme care exercised by its manufacturers to make it entirely pure, uniform in quality, and of the highest leavening power. All the scientific knowledge, care and skill, attained by a twenty years' practical experience are contributed toward this end, and no pharmaceutical preparation can be dispensed with a greater accuracy, precision and exactness. Every article used is absolutely pure. A number of chemists are employed to test the strength of each ingredient, so that its exact power and effect in combination with its ingredients is definitely known. Nothing is trusted to chance, and no person is employed in the preparation of the materials used or the manufacture of the powder, who is not an expert in his particular branch of the business. As a consequence, the Royal Baking Powder is of the highest grade of excellence, always pure, wholesome and uniform in quality. Each box is exactly like every other, and will retain its powers and produce the same and the highest leavening effect in any climate, at any time. The Government Chemists after having analyzed all the principal brands in the market, in their reports placed the Royal Baking Powder at the head of the list for strength, purity and wholesomeness, and thousands of tests all over the country have further demonstrated the fact that its qualities are, in every respect, unrivalled.

The church held their annual supper and business meeting Wednesday evening. It was a very enjoyable occasion. A goodly number attended and after the bountiful supper had been discussed the roll was called and the members responded with remarks or Scripture. After the church meeting the people were invited into the vestry where the Y. P. S. C. E. had assembled and Mr. Walter W. Skelton, with an apt speech, presented Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Hersey with a handsome chair as a token of the esteem of the Y. P. S. C. E. for their past services. Mr. Hersey responded, although much surprised, with a few well chosen words of thanks. An informal reception to Mrs. Hersey was then given. The Y. P. S. C. E. were invited to supper by the church and afterwards held a sociable.

THE POOR

GIVING BOUNTIES TO THE RICH.

There are thousands of people in the United States living upon slender incomes, widows and orphans, ministers, lawyers, doctors, teachers, clerks and others. The artificial scale of prices, induced by excessive tariffs, works a peculiar hardship upon these people, for they must maintain a certain standard of living which compels them to use articles heavily taxed by the McKinley bill.

Surely, nothing should be taken from the small incomes of such people unless an equivalent is given in return. They are willing to pay their just share of taxes, and as a matter of fact they pay more, but they are hardly in a position to pay bounties to rich manufacturers.

The amount taken by the American manufacturers from such people when their necessities compel them to buy any article, may be small, but it has been taken, and nothing given to them in return. They are contributing to a bounty for the manufacturer, to enable him to make large profits out of his business. If a man with a salary of $1200 pays $50 a year in these bounties to the manufacturers, he has given up two weeks of his year to help out the Sugar Trust, Carnegie and others. IS THIS JUST?

ONCE MORE "UP AND AT 'EM"

The REPUBLICAN RALLY to be held in Lyceum Hall this Friday evening, Nov. 4th, will be addressed by Rev. Geo. A. Crawford, D. D., who will preside. Hon. HENRY CABOT LODGE, and FREDERICK W. MURPHY, Esq., of Dedham.

A. J. MAXHAM, the celebrated campaign singer, will render several selections.

COME EARLY if you want seats. Gallery reserved for ladies and escorts.—PER ORDER.

OUR CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATE.

William S. Knox, the Republican candidate for Congress, was born in Killingly, Conn., in 1843, came to Lawrence when nine years of age, and has resided there ever since. He is a graduate from the public schools and Lawrence High School. He entered Amherst College in 1861 and graduated in the class of 1865 with high honors. He was admitted to the Bar in Essex County in 1866 and has practiced law successfully in Lawrence since that time. He was in the Legislature of Massachusetts in 1874 and 75 serving on the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives.

For the last four years he has been City Solicitor in Lawrence and has had charge of the important cases resulting from the taxation of the Corporations in Lawrence. He was also City Solicitor in 1875 and '76.

He has always been a Republican and a strong Protectionist, and up to the present time in this campaign has made an aggressive canvass.

Mr. Knox is bright and brainy gentleman. He commands the respect and esteem of all know him. His personal or political integrity has never been questioned. He is eminently a man of the people and a friend of the laboring classes, among whom he has found many of his warmest and staunchest supporters.

The War Veterans are doing all they can for the success of Mr. Knox because they have no truer friend anywhere than he is, and his prospect for election is highly encouraging.

ABOUT COUNTY ATTORNEY

From the best information which we have been able to gather, the Republican candidate for Prosecuting Attorney for Middlesex county, Mr. Wier of Lowell, is eminently worthy of the heavy support of the laboring classes, among whom he has found many of his warmest and staunchest supporters.

The War Veterans are doing all they can for the success of Mr. Knox because they have no truer friend anywhere than he is, and his prospect for election is highly encouraging.

That Mr. Wier will be elected by a good round majority does not admit of a shadow of doubt.

A POLITICAL NUMBER.

As it is the latest prior to the State and National election this issue of THE JOURNAL is devoted largely to politics. We have no apologies to offer for it. It is important that the people should have all the facts before them that they may be able to vote intelligently on the 8th. In the spread of information THE JOURNAL would do its part.

On the outside of to-day's paper will be found a timely letter from our able Boston correspondent. It is devoted to current politics and, like its predecessor, will be read with interest by JOURNAL patrons. The contributions of "A. M. B." to our columns during the campaign have exerted a wholesome influence on the public mind. In addition to this letter there is an article on Cleveland's "labor record" which laboring men, particularly the Woburn Knights of Labor, are urged to read carefully.

Candid consideration is asked for "this your fight" on the inside of THE JOURNAL, and other political matter bearing on the issues to be decided at the polls on next Tuesday, Nov. 8.

THE ELECTION.

Next Tuesday is election day. Every American who is able to should go to the polls and vote. Men who do not take interest enough in the affairs of the country to do so ought to have the right of suffrage taken away from them.

We hope the Republicans of Woburn will go and vote their thickest next Tuesday. The prospect for Republican victory in State and Nation is brilliant, and if every member of the party casts his ballot as he should the Democracy will be buried out of sight.

STOP AND THINK.

Just stop and think for a moment, if you are in doubt how to vote, how the best forces of your community, of the State and of the Nation, are arrayed in this campaign. You will find honesty and intelligence among your opponents, and some "black sheep," perhaps, in your own flock. But taken as a whole, knowing that in our parties the will of the majority is what controls in the end, which party would you honestly prefer to administer the affairs of your local, State or National government? You know that it is the Republican. Then go to the polls and vote for every one of its candidates. Every one will stand by his party. Every Democrat is opposed to what Republicans desire.

SHOULD GO TO THE POLLS.

Massachusetts Republicans should go to the polls so as to encourage their brethren all over the country. They have more to contend against, in many places, than you have. And yet the reports all show that they will do their duty on election day and send glad tidings to you when the polls are closed. From the West, especially, come encouraging reports, while New York, Indiana, New Jersey and Connecticut, the principal doubtful States, are more likely to cast their vote for Harrison than for Cleveland. The manufacturing centers understand the dangers they would be in with a free trade administration at Washington.

HALL AND TWOMBLY.

In these two gentlemen the Republicans of the 14th Middlesex District offer the voters first-class candidates. They are clean, upright, intelligent men, and every Republican in the District should constitute himself a committee of one to do all that lies in his power to secure their election.

If the Republicans will only arouse themselves to the importance of electing Messrs. Hall and Twombly, and will bestir themselves sufficiently to attend the polls and see that their neighbors do likewise, the Democratic candidate will be just more than everlastingly snowed under next Tuesday.

PLAN TO VOTE.

Every Republican should make his plans to vote on November 8 just as though his vote was to determine the election of every candidate for whom he casts it. If you really believe in the principles of your party express that opinion at the polls. If you do not, your opponent who does go to the polls is fairly entitled to his victory over you. Your silence may not only defeat your own will, but also defeat the hopes and desires of hundreds and thousands of your fellow Republicans. A Governor of Massachusetts was once elected by only one majority.

SKIES BRIGHT EVERYWHERE.

According to the latest and most reliable reports New York is no longer a doubtful State. It is sure to go for Harrison next Tuesday. Indiana is equally certain to give him a handsome majority over Cleveland. Illinois is in line, and the fears which Republicans have felt in Wisconsin have been entirely dispelled.

The East and West would shoulder to shoulder to defeat Free Trade and Wild Cat money.

GIVES IT UP.

Gov. Russell is reported to have said a few days ago that he does not feel at all sanguine that the people of Massachusetts will re-elect him next Tuesday. The signs are not so favorable as he wishes they were.

On Monday we enjoyed the pleasure of a short call from Representative candidate W. E. Twombly of Reading and his out of his job very much. He is a young man with a good business head on his shoulders and of agreeable manners. He and Major Hall will make a strong team and represent the 14th Middlesex District in a manner that their friends need not be ashamed of. By the way, the Reading Republicans say Mr. Twombly is coarser of being elected.

It is conceded on all hands that Major Hall will be a long way ahead of his ticket in Woburn. The old Soldiers are for him to a man, almost and will give him a hearty boost.

THE PARK.

Monday's evening's performance of "1492" began the ninth week of its brilliant success at the Park. No production of comic opera or burlesque extravaganza has ever made a better record here. For several weeks the attendance has been limited only by the capacity of the house, and the advance sale for several weeks to come is large. The 100th performance of "1492" will be celebrated Nov. 7, and on that occasion souvenirs of tasteful design will be distributed. Special features are also promised in the stage performance. G. M. Wadleigh, the Press Agent, writes the Journal: "The success of '1492' is a triumph. Thomas's latest success, will be seen at the close of '1492,' which will not be for some weeks to come."

THE COLUMBIA.

Those of our readers who have not yet visited the Columbia and seen that merriest of all merry plays, "The Sportsman," will do well to bear in mind that they have only this (Friday) evening, to-morrow matinee and evening in which to do so. For Saturday evening's presentation will close its engagement. "Jane" will be given on Monday evening next, and will hold the stage at this house for one week only.

Election returns will be announced from the stage of the Columbia Theatre next Tuesday.

BOSTON MUSEUM.

The closing week of "Aegle" has arrived, and to-morrow (Saturday) matinee at the Museum the present week will be the farewell production of this charming play which has been thoroughly artistic in its success, and has demonstrated the talent and value of the new stock company. On Saturday evening, Nov. 5, "Scandal" is announced, and the production promises to be one of unusual interest. New scenery has been painted, and the cast will include all the pretty faces with which the Museum company abounds the present season.

THE TREMONT.

The last presentation of "Fadette" at the Tremont by Henry Mapleson's Opera Company will take place tomorrow, Saturday, evening. There will be the usual matinee tomorrow afternoon. On next Monday evening, Nov. 7, Russell's Comedians will play "A Society Fad," tickets for which are now selling fast. It is a new piece brimful of fun which everybody will want to see.

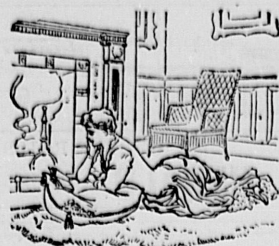

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

"The Fire Patrol" comes to the Grand Opera House next week to again renew the extensive acquaintance it formed in Boston when presented there last season. This is dramatic pictures scenes of the present; it is drama throughout, and abounds in surprises for its audience. Drama today must necessarily contain a strong element of realism to make them popular and profitable. In "The Fire Patrol" realistic scenes of everyday life are pictured with a vividness and accuracy which seem to carry the auditor to the very spot and place which scenery and acting place before them.

"The Fire Patrol" was enthusiastically received last season at the Opera House and its return is sure to arouse interest among the amusement lovers of Boston and vicinity. Mr. J. W. Harkins, Jr., the author of the drama, will play the leading role in the drama, and the company has been chosen with great care. Matinees as usual on Thursday and Saturday.

THE BOWDOIN SQUARE.

Those famous merry-makers, Evans & Hoey, in their perennial success, "A Parlor Match," which has been completely transformed and new features introduced, will be the attraction at the Bowdoin Square Theatre next Monday. The company this

THE NEW BALLOT.

How Republicans Should Mark

Their Vote.

The Republican section of the tickets in the middle, is headed as follows:

Harrison and Reid.....Rep. X

Below this come the names of the electors at-large: Nathaniel P. Banks of Waltham and John D. Long of Hingham; also the names of the electors by congressional districts as follows: (1)

Joseph Griswold of Greenfield; (2) George W. Johnson of Brookfield; (3)

Edward B. Glasgow of Worcester; (4) Henry A. Goodrich of Fitchburg; (5)

Peter D. Smith of Andover; (6) Frank Cousins of Salem; (7) George W. Walker of Malden; (8) Edward Giles of Somerville; (9) Jonathan A. Lane of Boston;

(10) John Shaw of Quincy; (11) John H. Ballard of Dedham; (12) Benjamin S. Lovell of Weymouth; (13) John Simpkins of Yarmouth. These are the men every Republican should vote for. And he will do so by putting only one cross for them all, and that is just where it is indicated above on the ticket, the word "Republican." Do not put a mark anywhere else when voting for Harrison and Reid. By a special law that one cross, placed as shown above, is a vote for the whole body of Republican electors.

But when it comes to voting for all other candidates, you must put a cross against the word "Republican" wherever it appears on your ballot. You may be uncertain as to the exact names of the men for whom you wish to vote; you may run some risk of confounding him with a man of a similar name but of another party. In every case find the word "Republican," put a good plain X in the square at the right, and the man for whom you wish to vote, you have voted for the candidate of your party.

Here is an example of the way the state ticket is arranged:

William H. Hall of Springfield.....Rep. X

Wesley Hamilton of Amherst.....Pro.....

Squire E. Putney of Southwick.....Pro.....

William E. Russell of Cambridge.....Dem.....

Henry Winn of Ma.....Peop.....

Just place a single X against the word "Republican," and you will be all right.

THE BEST
APERIENT

In modern pharmacy is, undoubtedly, Ayer's Cathartic Pills. Except in extreme cases, physicians have abandoned the use of drastic purgatives, and recommend a milder, but no less effective medicine. The favorite is Ayer's Pills, the superior medicinal virtues of which have been certified to under the official seals of state chemists, as well as by hosts of eminent doctors and pharmacists. No other pill so well supplies the demand of the general public for a safe, certain, and agreeable family medicine.

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine I ever used; and in my judgment no better general remedy was ever devised."

I have used them in my family and caused them to be used among my friends and employees for more than twenty years. To my certain knowledge many cases of the following complaints have been completely and permanently cured by the use of Ayer's Pills alone. Third day chills, colds, biliousness, fever, sick headache, rheumatism, flux, dyspepsia, constipation, and hard stools. I know that a moderate course of these pills, continued for a few days or weeks, as the nature of the complaint required, would be found an absolute cure in every case. Like Plaster, I have named above. — J. O. Wilson, Contractor and Builder, Sulphur Springs, Texas.

"For eight years I was afflicted with constipation, which at last became very distressing. The doctors could do no more for me. Then I began to take and soon the bowels recovered their natural regular action, so that now I am in excellent health." — Wm. H. DeLancut, Dorset, Ontario.

"Ayer's Pills are the best cathartic I ever used in my practice." — D. T. Sparks, M. D., Yonkers, Ind.

Widening City Streets.

A hint for street improvement comes from Boston. Tremont street is to be made wider, not by cutting off a slice from the fronts of the buildings from top to bottom, but by taking a portion of the first story of each house to form an arcade extending the length of the block, thus furnishing a footway sheltered from sun and rain and obtaining a fine architectural effect with the least possible encroachment on private property. — Philadelphia Ledger.

Physicians Puzzled.

Many persons are unable to sleep on their left side. The cause has long been a puzzle to physicians. Metropolitan papers speak with great interest of Dr. Franklin Miller, the eminent Indiana specialist in nervous and heart diseases, who has proven that this habit arises from a diseased heart. He has examined and kept on record the cases of many of his patients, and has found that those who are unable to sleep on their left side, have a diseased heart. He has found that a diseased heart, a wonderful remedy, is sold at the Buss Pharmacy. Thousands testify to its value as a cure for Heart Diseases. Mrs. Clara Benoy, Loveland, Colo., says its effects on her were marvelous. Elegant Book on heart disease free.

Robert Barber, of Cookport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for Lung Trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Unable to Tell.

Yes, that was so. For years I suffered severely with sciatica; a sore broke out all over my body, and I am unable to tell one half that I suffered as I do now, until I obtained relief until I used Salsaparilla, which completely cured me. — C. B. Dale, 17 Allston street, Boston.

"After the grippe—cough. This was my experience—a hacking, dry cough, with an incessant tickling in the throat, keeping me awake nights, and disturbing the household. I tried a great number of cough-cures, but they gave me only temporary relief. At last I concluded to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and before I had used half a bottle, I had my first all-night sleep. I continued to improve, and now consider myself cured."—A. A. Sherman, Coeymans, N. Y.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, many have been saved from fatal illness.

E. D. Estabrook, Canterbury, N. H., says: "In the winter of 1881 I was a sufferer of lumbago in the sacrum, and being considerably exposed, I took a cold and was afflicted with a terrible cough. I tried several remedies, but they gave me only temporary relief. At last I thought I was going into a decline. On the advice of a friend, I began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and in less than half a bottle completely cured me."

SWEDISH RESTAURANTS.

Food in Great Quantities, but It Must Be Heated in a Hurry.

I have had my first experience of the Swedish mode of catering for travelers. We were warned at the door that every one entering the restaurant would have to pay two kroner (two shillings and twopence halfpenny), whether he ate as much as he was able or ate nothing at all. There was an appalling display of victuals and drink. Thanks to the helpful person, I got nicely through the repast in twenty minutes, the limit of time allowed. Surely the twenty minutes might have been extended to thirty minutes or more without, in a slow coach country, inconvenience to the railway administration.

For the two kroner one had the run of all that was displayed with Homeric plenteousness on a long and wide central table and on a great buffet. The variety of victuals and drinks was infinite. What were there? Soups à la française and à la suédoise, native wheats, barley (delicacies), including caviar, anchovies, sliced tongue and sausages; smoked salmon, smoked goose and cucumbers flavored with aniseed. The fish division included lobsters, salmon boiled and grilled, pike and salmon trout. Potatoes, eggs and "beef" of cooked spinach. Baseline of salad were placed among dishes of roast beef, veal and fowl, the latter of some diminutive breed. Besides these there were pies, puddings, jams, cranberry compotes, pan and oven cakes, sweet omelets, and lastly, wood strawberries, with whipped cream.

The coffee was equal to Ledyen's, but there was no time to drink it unless one scalded one's throat. Knives, forks and plates were laid in heaps on the central table. Beverages were sold at cost prices. Around the room stood small tables with nothing but tablecloths on them. One helped one's self as one pleased and ate as one could.

This is what an "old soldier" would do in a Swedish railway restaurant. If with a party he would appoint himself its general, directing one of his friends to rouse upon many chairs as were wanted and set them round a table, on which he was to keep guard; another would be told off to capture knives, forks and plates, to order drinks and provide the party with glasses. His next duty would be to carry plates, soups and viands from the big table to the one that had been secured. The general's part would be to ladle out soup and snatch up food from the big table, heaping up as much and as many sorts on each plate held out to him as he could. The whole party would be thus provided for without loss of time and could eat in hot haste no doubt of nearly everything.

At a railway meal in Sweden one may see as many as seven or eight sorts of viands on the same plate at the same moment, and all getting mixed. But the Swedish appetite is proverbial, and the fastidious person risks being starved. All that is offered is of the best, but having to gobble rather than to eat one can hardly discern its good quality. The Swedes hold that this system of gorging one's self rapidly has its advantages, it enabling travelers to go for a long time without further refreshment, because they cannot digest the food for many hours, and therefore cannot get hungry.—London Truth.

An Escaped Humorous.

Two nights ago a gentleman coming down Jefferson avenue was approached by a well dressed stranger who saluted him politely:

"Excuse me," he said, "but will you be kind enough to assist a penniless man?"

"You don't look like a man in need," replied the gentleman.

"But I am, just the same."

"How much do you want?"

"Only two cents."

"Have you any money at all?"

"Not a penny, and I'd like to have two. I have plenty of large bills, but I want to buy a postage stamp and haven't the change," and with a loud guffaw he turned and hurried away into the darkness.—Detroit Free Press.

SENT BY THE SPIRIT.

LESSON VII, FOURTH QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, NOV. 13.

Text of the Lesson, Acts xiii, 1-15.—Memorize Verses 2, 4.—Golden Text, Luke xxi, 47.—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

1. "Now there were in the church that was at Antioch certain prophets and teachers." Barnabas and Saul having continued a whole year at Antioch teaching much people, were afterward sent to Jerusalem with the offering for the needy brethren of Judea (chapter xi, 29-30). Due time they returned, having fulfilled their mission, and brought with them John Mark, son of Mary, Barnabas' sister, at whose house the prayer meeting had been held on behalf of Peter (chapter xii, 12, 13; Col. iv, 10).

2. "As they ministered to the Lord as fast as the Holy Ghost said, Separate me, Barnabas and Saul, for the work whereunto I have called them." To stand before God and serve Him and minister unto Him (I Chron. xxix, 11) should be the attitude and daily life of every Christian, the most ordinary work of the daily routine being done to His glory (I Cor. x, 31). Paul implies at least more thought given to the welfare of the soul than that of the body. Barnabas and Saul had been diligent in serving the Lord and living this consecrated life, but the Holy Spirit has a special work for them to which He now calls them (Eph. ii, 10).

3. "And when they had fasted and prayed and laid their hands on them they sent them away." The influence of the body in eating and drinking is not consistent with a holy life. That which is self-reliant for health God will bless, but the health of the soul, coming from God, delighting in the will of God and ready to do it, desire above all things to be filled with His Spirit for His service—this will bring power from on high and make its channels whereby God may reveal Himself to men.

4. "So they, being sent forth by the Holy Ghost, departed unto Seleucia, and from thence they sailed to Cyprus." They are right in going forth on this tour, for they are sent by the Spirit of God, and he cannot do wrong, but how they knew that they were to go to Seleucia, the seaport of Antioch, and thence to Cyprus, is not clear to us. To begin home, or with these dear to us, seems to be a Scriptural principle (Luke viii, 38; xiv, 47).

5. "And when they were at Salamis they preached the word of God in the synagogue of the Jews, and they had also John the evangelist with them." Salamis was the easternmost point of Cyprus, and was the port of Paphos, the next west was at the extreme west of the island. "To the Jew first" was the regular custom of the apostles wherever they went (Rom. i, 16; Acts xiii, 23; xiv, 46). The preaching was never a sermon or essay to show their own skill, but always an exposition of the Word of God.

6. "And when they had gone through the island unto Paphos they found a certain sorcerer, a Jew, a false prophet, whose name was Bar-jesus." We do not read of any success, any results of their preaching at Salamis, but we know they must have given faithful testimony, and as a brother in the ministry once said to me, "Faithfulness is success." If we are faithful God will use us for His glory (1 Cor. xii, 4; xix, 17; Rev. ii, 10). We do not read of any followers of Jesus on the whole island, but we do find a false prophet.

7. "Which was with the deputy of the country, Sergius Paulus, a prudent man, who called for Barnabas and Saul, and desired to hear them." The false prophet had made friends in high places, and Satan was no doubt well pleased with his servant's success. There have been many false prophets who have had great success, and there will be many more.

8. "But Elymas, the sorcerer, withstood them, seeking to turn away the deputy from the faith." There is a direct opposition and antagonism between Christ and antichrist, the true and the false, and when present with them, one or the other must win. It is clear that the devil does not care a fig for their preaching and fears no harm to his kingdom from their milk and water, much less from their goodly kind of talk. If the preaching is God's own truth, the devil will hate it and soon show it.

9. "Then Saul (who is also called Paul), filled with the Holy Ghost, set his eyes on him." This is the first time that Saul is called Paul, and it is interesting to notice that the name change came at a critical moment. He is a face to face encounter between a servant of Christ and a servant of Satan in the presence of the deputy, reminding us of the magician who withstood Moses and Aaron, and taking us back even to the time of Cain and Abel.

10. "And said, O full of subtlety and mischief, thou child of the devil, thou enemy of all righteousness, wilt thou not cease to pervert the right ways of the Lord?" So Peter was enabled by the Spirit to read the hearts of Ananias and Sapphira (chapter v, 3, 4). Thus plainly Jesus spoke to the self-righteous Jews, telling them that they were of their father, the devil (John viii, 44). How much more religiousness there is today which is only a perversion of the truth, and how much more of the devil, God only knows, but it will all be overthrown in due time under the name of Babylon (Rev. xviii, 21-24). Contrasts the true and the false in Jer. xxiii, 28, 30.

11. "And now behold the hand of the Lord is upon thee, and thou shalt be blind, not seeing the sun for a season." He immediately there fell on him a mist and a darkness; and he went about seeking some to lead him by the hand. The hand of our God is upon all them for good that seek Him, and His power and His wrath is against all them that forsake Him. With His right hand He dashes in pieces the enemy (Ezra viii, 22; Ex. xv, 6). The hand of God is upon His servant when laid upon Saul gave him sight and healing in the name of Jesus (Acts ix, 17, 18), but now the same hand of God gives blindness and trouble. Everything depends upon our relation to God—obedience brings blessing, and disobedience brings cursing.

12. "Then the deputy, when he saw what was done, believed, being astonished at the doctrine of the Lord." The sorcerer had been surprised him by some wonderful things, but he had never seen anything like this. If we would connect ourselves with the great spiritual power in the world, His power in us will make it clear that He is greater than Satan, that His joys are greater than those the world can give and that a life with Him is truly excellent.

13. "Now when Paul and his company looked from Paphos they came to Perga, in Pamphylia, and John, departing from them, returned to Jerusalem." This return home of John was afterward the separation of the apostles from Barnabas, but at a later period we find Mark very dear and faithful to Paul.

This Means Something.

There is no gift to be compared with health. None realize this like the sufferer from some chronic or long-standing disease. To such the gift of renewed health is priceless. And yet it is within the reach of all such sufferers. The great specialist in the cure of all forms of nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 34 Temple Pl., Boston, Mass., who has long been the head of the profession, has decided to give consultation and advice hereafter free. His medicines are all purely vegetable and harmless and his success in curing diseases is unequalled. His wonderful discovery, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, is probably the greatest medical discovery of the age. Remember, sufferer, that you can write him a description of your case and he will return a carefully considered letter, fully explaining your disease, giving advice, etc., without charge of any kind. Send for his symptom blank to fill out, and follow his advice if you want to be cured.

HOW CAN WE DO IT?

That Is What Is Agitating The Public Mind.

We All Know That Something Must Soon Be Done About It.

How To Meet A Great Crisis Among Our People.

Something must be done about it. There is no doubt about that. And those who must be done quickly, or it may be too late.

On behalf of our readers we have made some very important investigations in this vicinity, and we have to report that our apprehensions were correct and are substantiated by the facts. We found that there is a greater proportion of our townspeople who are the victims of some form of nervous or chronic disorders, than ever before in our history. It is a fact beyond doubt that these diseases are increasing in our midst at an alarming rate.

Feeling that something must be done at once in the matter, we have been in consultation and communication with several of New York City's most eminent physicians—specialists in the treatment of nervous and chronic disorders, and we give our readers their opinions and advice as to how to effect a cure in these cases.

Dr. S. M. Reynolds, one of New York City's greatest specialists, says unhesitatingly and emphatically:

"Use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy in all such cases. I have never, in a practice of over twenty-five years, recommended a patent medicine. This great remedy, however, cannot be considered under the head of a patent medicine's prescription. I have used it among my patients and in my family, and I unhesitatingly pronounce it the most valuable remedy for the nerves I have ever used."

Dr. Henry Peffer, also one of New York City's great physicians, says:

"I tell you, sick people, to use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I have used it in my practice with wonderful results. I have found it a perfect and complete cure for patients in my practice who were suffering from all forms of nervous troubles, sleeplessness, headaches, nervous weakness and debility."

The great New York physician, Emil Neuner, M.D., physician-in-chief of the New York Lodge and Association Hospital, writes:

"We are using Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy at the Hospital for our patients with great success."

Other physicians gave us the same advice for our people, and from the unanimity of opinion of the doctors, we are assured that the great and widely-known remedy we are telling our sick and suffering people to use to restore them to health. All the doctors say that it does cure, and all sufferers from nervousness, weakness, poor blood, indigestion, stomach, kidney or liver troubles should give it an immediate trial. We know that it is a purely vegetable and harmless remedy, and our druggists have it for sale at 81¢. Another thing of great consequence is this, that it is the discovery of Dr. Greene, of 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass., who is a renowned specialist in curing nervous and chronic affections, and he can be consulted free of charge concerning any case, personally or by letter.

Clubs and the Thirteen Superstition.

The thirteen club in America has not been a success, taking into consideration its fundamental principle—to combat all modern superstitions, especially that one which teaches us that the number "13" is fatal and unlucky. The club always sits down with thirteen at a table, always on Friday, the supposed unluckiest day of the week. Kindness and good will are spilled, and everything is done to tempt ill luck, but it does not come. On the other hand, neither does the popular belief that "13" is unlucky disappear.—Million.

"I beg your pardon," said the cheery youth to the calm and austere maiden in the Pullman, but I think I have seen you somewhere before."

Too Deserving.

A young village maiden had obtained the modesty prize. "I suppose then, my child," said a Parisian lady addressing her, "you are the most modest girl in the parish."

He Stopped.

A nervous little man sat on one side of the cross seats on the top of an omnibus the other day, back to back with a young woman of the "sweet girl graduate" species. The little man felt a piece of cloth tickle his neck, and thinking the ends of his necktie were sticking out he began to adjust the cloth down between the collar and waistcoat.

He was nearly scared out of his seat a minute later by hearing the girl exclaim in a loud voice: "Now, you stop! Leave my hair ribbon alone!"

The small man apologized and got off at once.—Boston Globe.

FARMING IN THE ADIRONDACKS.

A Beautiful Country, but No Place in Which to Make a Living.

The writer was driving along a lovely hill road overlooking the sparkling waters of Lake Champlain in their setting of blue mountains when he came to a pretty, well-furnished house, with the sign "For Sale" posted on the veranda. Big barns and out-houses loomed up behind the house, and a man was moving long hay in the orchard.

"How much do you want for this farm?" was asked.

"A thousand dollars," was the reply.

"How many acres?"

"One hundred."

"How much cleared?"

"Sixty."

"How much wood lot?"

"About forty."

"Any springs on the place?"

"A fine one that sends its stream through an iron pipe right into the kitchen. It's ice cold and never fails."

"The buildings look as though they cost more than $1,000."

"So they did."

"How much?"

"Five or six thousand."

"Why put them on so cheap a farm?"

"This farm was held high before the west opened up, when this house was built."

"Could a man make money off it yet?"

"Yes sir—e. I work it on shares with the owner, and I made all of $150 off it last year for my share."

"Great Scott! all that. Do you live in the house?"

"No, I live on another farm about four miles off. I work both."

"Make as much off the other as you do off this?"

"Sometimes."

"Suppose I offered to rent this house and orchard and out-houses only, what would the owner charge me?"

"Well, he'd charge you pretty steep, stranger, but you'd pay. Perhaps more than you'd care to pay."

"Perhaps so. How much do you think?"

"Well (cautiously), maybe as high as seventy-five dollars a year."

Patience looked longingly after the pretty, nine room, white house, with green blinds and wide veranda, commanding a view of mountain, valley, plain, forest and lake hard to excel; counted the big apple trees in the quiet orchard, and compared sadly all that room for seventy-five dollars a year with the New York City, where seventy-five dollars hardly sufficed for two months' rent, and turned away reluctantly. For what is the use of renting even paradise if you must live in some other place!—New York Tribune.

A Profane Bird.

One day an old lady had cause to severely reprimand one of her maids. This so irritated the girl that, as a vindictive act, she decided to play a trick on her mistress.

The girl, who was named Mary, was a very pretty girl, and she was very fond of her mistress. She had been with her for many years, and she was very devoted to her.

One day, when her mistress was in the garden, she saw a very pretty bird. She was very fond of birds, and she was very interested in the one she saw.

The bird was very beautiful, and it was very tame. It came up to her, and it was very friendly to her.

THE INHABITANTS OF MARS.

It seems to us that unless the whole conception of communicating with Mars be in the highest degree extravagant, we have some reason to assume that the possible Martians are behind, not before, us in their stage of development and civilization. We know that the tribes upon our earth which live under the most unfavorable conditions as regards heat—the Eskimo, for instance, and the Patagonians—are far behind the inhabitants of the temperate regions in civilization, and therefore if we may draw any inferences at all as to the Martians from our own condition, the more probable inference is that if they exist under circumstances at all like our own, they are, considering their great distance from the sun, centuries behind us rather than at the same stage of evolution, or still less centuries before us.

And if we had no right to draw an inference then, we have still less reason to assume that the possible Martians are behind, not before, us in their stage of development and civilization. We know that the tribes upon our earth which live under the most unfavorable conditions as regards heat—the Eskimo, for instance, and the Patagonians—are far behind the inhabitants of the temperate regions in civilization, and therefore if we may draw any inferences at all as to the Martians from our own condition, the more probable inference is that if they exist under circumstances at all like our own, they are, considering their great distance from the sun, centuries behind us rather than at the same stage of evolution, or still less centuries before us.

And if we had no right to draw an inference then, we have still less reason to assume that the possible Martians are behind, not before, us in their stage of development and civilization. The Reading Rooms.

The large and commodious Reading Rooms connected with the Public Library are opened daily from 9 A. M. to 12 M. and from 2 P. M. to 9 P. M. Several additions have been made during the last few months to the tables, and the following is a complete list of the periodicals and magazines now to be found there:

American Architect, American Catholic Quarterly Review, American Journal of Medicine, American Journal of Science, American Naturalist, Arena, Art Amateur, Art Interchange, Atlantic Monthly, Blackwood's Magazine, Catholic World, Century Magazine, Contemporary Review, Compositian, Edinburgh Review, Education, Forum, Harper's Bazar, Harper's Monthly, Harper's Weekly, Independent, Library Journal, Little's Living Age, Magazine of American History, Nation, New England Historical and Genealogical Register, New England Magazine, New World, North American Review, Patent Office Gazette, Popular Science Monthly, Review of Reviews, St. Nicholas, Scientific American, Scientific American Supplement, Scribner's Magazine, Scribner's Monthly, Scribner's Magazine, Westminster Review, Woman's Journal.

The Forum and North American, together with all the American magazines, are excellent, but taken with the English magazines they are better still. The Forum (New York) is a very fine English magazine, but it has nothing to compare with our illustrated magazines, we have nothing to compare with the "Contemporary," "Westminster," and "Edinburgh" Reviews. They force in on any thoughtful reader the conviction that it is to these English Reviews we must turn for the latest results of thought or science, for the latest news of discovery and investigation, and for the soundest dictation of criticism.

The large variety of encyclopedias and books of reference to be found in these rooms for the accommodation of students make it a valuable place for study as well as a resort for the general reader.—E. F. P.

It cures every case of Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Gordon Parker.

Evening School.
The very best reports reach us from the evening school in this city. Principal Carter and his efficient assistants are organizing things vigorously and a complete organization of the several classes has been effected.

About 90 pupils attend the school. The short-hand and type-writing classes are the largest which, indicating the purpose of the scholars, is a good sign.

The school is a very helpful provision for the education of young people who, for one cause or another, find it inconvenient or impossible to attend the day schools, and will prove of great benefit to the rising generation and community. The character of the teachers and the deep interest they take in the work is a guarantee of this.

How to save money is a problem that interests everybody. One way to do it is to invigorate the system with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Being a highly concentrated blood medicine, it is the most powerful and economical. It is sold for a dollar a bottle, but worth five.

Literary Notices.

A WELCOME VISITOR.—December makes the opening number of THE NEW PETERSON an illustrated magazine devoted solely to literature and art. The names of the editors are a host in themselves; they comprise Frank Lee Benedict, Howard Seely Thayer, and M. G. McColland.

Among the contributors are such names as E. E. Hale, T. W. Higginson, Hamlin Garland, George Kirkland, John Vance Cheney, William Archer, Margaret Kent, Rebecca Harding Davis, Gertrude Atherton, Ruth McEnery Stuart, Charles W. Coleman—in short, the cream of the essayists, story-writers, and poets in the entire length and breadth of the country. THE NEW PETERSON will be the cheapest literary magazine in the world, yet the names quoted above form a guaranty that in every respect it will be the equal of the highest-priced literary monthlies.

The December number is a warrant, too, that in the matter of illustrations, paper, typography, etc., it will prove a formidable rival to more expensive periodicals. The Amateur's Camera, by Frances Stevens, is especially written and gives a series of admirable photographs by some of our most distinguished amateur artists.

One of the best Christmas stories of the year, "The Christmas Eve," illustrated, is written by Minna Irving, illustrated, is one of the best of the year.

Alfred Tenneyson, by Charles Addison Mayhew, is beautifully illustrated and written. These are a few of the number's attractions. It must be seen to be appreciated. Our readers should not fail to send for it. Terms, $2.00 a year; $1.00 for six months. A sample number will be sent for five cents. Address THE NEW PETERSON MAGAZINE CO., Philadelphia.

Dry, clean, and light poultry houses are indispensable to success.

Breeding in-and-in of poultry should be avoided, as tending to degeneracy.

Feeding cold milk is a frequent cause of scours in calves. Feed milk at blood heat.

Mangel wurzels are economical feed for poultry, boiled and mixed with middlings.

It is not the amount of food consumed, but that digested, which keeps the horses strong and plump.

The farm will never give you complete satisfaction so long as you have to buy fruit from your neighbor.

A Woman's Back.
It is the mainspring of her life.

What can she do, where can she go, so long as that deadly backache saps every particle of her strength and ambition?

She cannot walk, she cannot stand; her household is a burden; the hours behind the counter or in the factory are crushing; she is miserable.

The cause is some derangement of the uterus or womb. The backache is the sure symptom.

It is a jeweled watch; an accurate time-keeper; a gem in gold, silver, or steel; in fact, it is a masterpiece of art and science, and it is sold for a dollar a bottle, but worth five.

WINCHESTER.

The Grammar schools close at 3.30 p. m.

Mr. S. W. Twombly will soon build a nice house on Harrison st.

Mr. Hovey is building a fine house on the corner of Main and Cross streets.

Fred Joy will represent Winchester and Arlington in the Legislature in good shape.

What with printing sermons and historical sketches the Star has its hands pretty full these days.

Mr. F. H. Nourse, the well known insurance agent and real estate dealer, is very busy these times.

The election of Mr. McCall to Congress and Mr. Fred Joy to the General Court gives great satisfaction here.

The Woman's Suffrage League kept right on "pegging away" just as though there was not a single cloud in their political firmament.

Col. Nat. Richardson got his shot at Woburn in the last issue of the Star. The Colonel's "history" reads well, but whether it will "hold water" or not is a different question entirely.

The Democrats indulged in an old fashioned jollification here last Tuesday evening. With McCall for Congress and Joy for the General Court I can't see what they have to feel so good over.

The JOURNAL's old friend and former Woburn resident, Mr. Thomas Morris, got back from away Down East in season to vote on the 8th. He and his wife enjoyed their Eastern trip and visit.

Last Tuesday night the people celebrated McCall's election by bonfires, band, fireworks and a supper given in the Town Hall to all those who voted for him. The voters were surprised on Monday last by receiving a postal card inviting them to a supper.

The BOWDOIN THEATRE.

Hallen and Hart are announced by Manager Atkinson as the attraction to follow Evans and Hovey at the Bowdoin Square Theatre, making their appearance next Monday with their new play, which has scored such a pleasing success in the West.

"The Idea of the West," by John McCall, the well known people, as Mollie Fuller, the statuesque dancer; John McCall, the baritone; Al Wilson and others.

A great deal of original music and many taking specialties may be expected, as Hallen and Hart are well known as clever performers.

Following "The Family Circle" at the Columbia comes "The Surrender." The piece is a new original and indicates a success for this author as pronounced as was the original "Alabama." The cast includes Louis Aldrich, Robert Ayling, Charles Green, Alf Loman, Frank Cummings, W. R. Crompton, Clement Bainbridge, Burr McIntosh, Henry Woodruff, H. B. Bismore, Rose Eyring, Elaine Eilon, Miriam O'Leary, Florence Robertson, Kate Basely and Maude Banks.

Intelligence and Affectation.
It may be said that intelligent mankind is naturally subject to affectation. Purists may object that these ideas are antagonistic, since nature is essentially opposed to false hood; but in the human character are many contradictions side by side. Without an effort they agree to differ. Babies must be natural you would think, yet, so soon at least as male observers have a chance to study them they are a mass of affectation. Simplicity of manners is the fruit of years' and hard experience, amiable or the reverse, for years and hard experience kill the ideal.

himself somebody called to tuncity and to the other world. He is allowed to forget exactly who he is and what he has in hand. So the real character asserts itself. But you shall see men not busy or not engaged in that hourly struggle with fortune which absorbs the imagination of the idealists to the last. Thus the likeness of the last of the Eighteenth century may be identified in our modern house of peers. An interesting and pleasing likeness it is, too, generally, though the flesh and blood original would be as much an anachronism as an Eighteenth century bishop.—National Observer.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the valuable components of which are imported, wholesale, by J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., where the articles are richest in medicinal properties.

If people consulted their own interest, they would never use any other; for Ayer's Sarsaparilla has a slow but thorough effect, and is the best of all medicines, concentrated strength and purity, it is the most economical."—James F. It is no news that cannon balls and bullets can be photographed as they dart through the air, but Professor C. V. Boys has recently made some experiments in photographing flying bullets that cast new light upon their motion and their effect upon the air through which they pass.

A wall of suffering, of wrong and stain,

Alas! 'tis built of solid stone,
Repentance pulls it down alone!

Is it vain?
Of this he made?

There stands this wall of silence 'twixt us twain.

The efforts he shall make,
Though he may prove a strong antagonist,
His stone will he never shake.

That he can hardly feel

FRIDAY, NOV. 25, 1892.

THIS JOURNAL is sold at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 105 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 105 Main Street, John Cummings, 2nd, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. E. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

A GOOD RECORD.

Against the wishes of many warm friends Mayor Thompson declined to be a candidate for reelection. His refusal to accept a nomination was absolute and there the matter ended.

Whether Mayor Thompson acted wisely or not was his affair and not ours, but that there were many people to whom his course was a disappointment is unquestionably true.

Mayor Thompson will leave the office with a good record behind him. He will never have any reason to be ashamed of his administration. As a business Mayor he will always be reckoned among the best. He and the JOURNAL did not think alike in the matter of signing licenses last May but nobody doubts that he was honest and conscientious in the course he took.

The JOURNAL has felt all through the year that the laws against illegal rum-selling were being constantly violated with impunity, and that the authorities were neglecting their duty in this particular. This charge however will fit the shoulders of more than one city official.

On the other hand Mayor Thompson will leave many enduring and honorable monuments to his memory as Chief Executive of the city. He has inaugurated and pushed to completion more public improvements of an important and permanent character than any former administration, or were ever undertaken while Woburn was a town.

To Mayor Thompson belongs the credit of planning and successfully engineering one of the largest municipal and civic celebrations ever seen in the State. Of course he was ably and heartily aided by the people, but the 25th Anniversary celebration was his pride and his success was monumental. And it was carried through within the limits of the appropriation for it. The new Armory is another of Mayor Thompson's achievements for which he deserves much praise. It is an ornament to the city, and its utility no one questions. Former administrations had shunned it; it was a costly improvement, and they did not like to take hold of it. They left it for Mayor Thompson who courageously put it through, and now everybody is glad that he did.

With equal courage, but always regardless of the city's interest, the Mayor assumed responsibility for the new Court House, which when completed will be one of the most commodious and best in the State. People grumbled and found fault with the Mayor, as they always do over the inauguration of radical changes however strong the necessity for them may be, but he accepted the responsibility of the improvement, and a fine Court House will stand there on Common street a good many years a witness to his wisdom and energy.

We might go on and enumerate other public works accomplished by Mayor Thompson but these suffice to show that his administration has been a remarkably active and progressive one, and in point of material improvement very successful. It makes an honorable record and one from a review of which, after he leaves the Chair, Mayor Thompson and his friends will be apt to derive much solid satisfaction.

FOR SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

In selecting candidates for School Board the Republicans did work that will be endorsed by every friend of education in this city and emphatically ratified at the polls.

Concerning Mr. John R. Carter and Mrs. Jennie K. Adams nothing need be said farther than that they are old members, thoroughly in sympathy with the Public School system, and in important positions have done splendid service on the Board.

Doctor Josiah P. Bixby commands the respect of everyone acquainted with him. He received a classical education before entering on the study of the profession of which he has been a popular and successful practitioner for a number of years. He comes from good New England stock, is a gentleman, and will prove a valuable acquisition to the Board.

Mr. Frank P. Richardson is a new man. His father and grandfather were members of the Woburn School Committee in their day and so the son and grandson is in direct line of promotion. He is a native of Woburn; was educated in the public schools and Warren Academy; subsequently read law and was admitted to the Bar of the State, but never practiced his profession. He is a direct descendant, in the 9th generation, of the original Samuel Richardson, and the last of six generations who have continuously owned and occupied the old homestead on the corner of Salem and Bow streets.

Mr. Richardson is a cultured gentleman, an ardent advocate of the Public School, and will make an able and efficient member of the Board.

Compare these with the Democratic candidates.

A GOOD NOMINATION.

The Democrats of this city did themselves credit when they nominated George F. Bean, Esq., for Mayor last Tuesday night. He was the unanimous choice of the largest and best portion of the party and ought to be proud of the high estimation in which he is held by his political associates.

FOR LODGE.

Last Monday morning the Boston Journal came out flat-footed in favor of Henry Cabot Lodge for United States Senator.

Mention is here made of the fact merely to call attention to the Journal's "new departure." Until the recent inauguration of a bolder policy that excellent paper was hardly ever known to express a choice as to candidates for office previous to the nominating conventions, and it was not very long ago that a step like that taken in favor of Mr. Lodge by the Journal would have excited wonder in a good many minds.

But it is different now.

PHILIP K. A. RICHARDSON.

This gentleman is the Republican nominee for the office of Mayor. He is the present Alderman in Ward 3. If there are any "outs" about him the people have not learned what they are. He is a worthy young man and should receive the full vote of his party.

This is all that limited space permits us to say about Mr. Richardson this week, but in our next issue we propose to submit some reasons why we think he would make a model Mayor.

After nearly six months of fighting in which many millions of dollars have been spent and a score of lives lost the greatest labor strike of the day, that at Homestead, has been declared off and the strikers are vainly begging to be taken back into their old places.

It was an ill-advised movement on the part of the Carnegie employees and at best, to their sorrow, they have found it so. Strikes are dangerous things to handle and should be used only as a last resort to right real wrongs.

—Supt. Crilly's men worked last Tuesday night from 11 to 3 putting in a couple of hydrants at the Centre.

—Mrs. M. A. Davis has returned from Salem, N. H., and is now comfortably domiciled at No. 6 Winn Park.

—Mrs. George A. Blaney and Miss Blaney have returned to this city and are living very pleasantly at 42 Warren street.

—Mr. George H. Taylor, commercial traveler, returned from a 5-weeks business tour in Maine in season for his Thanksgiving turkey.

—The Duncan factory on Mufroe st. is soon to be started up for the making of morocco by the Beebles. It will employ 200 workmen.

—Mr. Charles E. Tripp is an amateur photographer of no small skill. We saw some pictures of his the other day which were done up in true art style.

—Mrs. M. T. Parker has returned to this city and is at home at No. 62 Pleasant street. Mr. Parker is at his childhood's home in York County, Maine.

—Col. Hayes has perfected his railroad car window fastener which experts say is perfect. A large number will soon be put on the windows of the B. & M. cars.

—Attention is called to the advertisement "To Let" by Mr. E. C. Colman, very desirable and will be let at low figures.

—Mrs. Richardson of 17 Church Ave., and her granddaughter, Miss Carter, passed Thanksgiving Day very pleasantly among friends in New Hampshire.

—There was a big rush at the Boston Branch the week before Thanksgiving, but Fitz & Stanley have refilled their store and are on deck for the Christmas holidays.

—Mr. Michael McKay of Chestnut street has been quite ill of late but is now on the mend. It was one of his old attacks of stomach trouble. Dr. Harlow is his physician.

—The auction sale of the Taylor homestead in Burlington has been postponed to Dec. 12. It is a very desirable farm and no doubt the sale of it will attract a big crowd of people.

—Last Saturday evening Liquor officers McIntosh and McDermott raided the premises of John Garvy and Patrick Lyden, Main street, and seized large quantities of liquor.

—G. R. Gage & Co. is happy. The painters and decorators (W. H. Slater and men) have got through and everything is all rights once more. And Atwood is as busy as a bee all the time.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Symmes (bride Miss Philenia W. Johnson) have gone to housekeeping at No. 11 Mystic Ave., one of the pleasant thoroughfares and sections of Winchester.

—Mrs. Mabel Thompson has instituted legal proceedings against Woburn to recover $20,000 damages for injuries received by a fall on Canal st. the night of Nov. 7. John W. Johnson, Esq., is her lawyer.

—Perseverance Division, S. of T., gave a very fine entertainment last evening at Music Hall. The very best of talent was employed, the receipts were satisfactory, and everything passed off in the most happy manner.

—A sale of Fine Needle Work, Water Colors and Decorated China, will be held at the residence of Mrs. C. L. Grammer, 24 Canal street, Dec. 6, at 2 p. m. In case of storm, the sale will be continued Wednesday, 7th.—3.

—Last Friday afternoon we had a pleasant call from the Associate Editor of the Winchester Star. She reported a satisfactory degree of prosperity on the part of the Star and seemed happy. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson make an excellent paper.

—No pains will be spared to provide the very best accommodations for all who may attend the great meeting of the Committee of One Hundred at Lyceum Hall at 3 o'clock next Sunday afternoon. From present indications the meeting will be immense.

—The Mechanics Fair interspersed with the best of entertainments is going to be a big thing. Its principal features are new and will please everybody. Great preparations are on foot for it and the committees are working like beavers to make it a big success. See advertisement.

—The next entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. Course will be given on Thursday, Dec. 1, by the Juvenile Minstrels, and that it will be a good one admits of no question. Everybody will want to take it in for it will be unique and exceedingly entertaining. See advertisement.

—John Madden has bought out his partner, Garner Blake, and will continue the furniture business at No. 396 Main street, the old stand. He has a good stock of everything in his line and sells very cheap. Auction sale of furniture and household goods is held each Thursday evening.

—Sweet Clover Buckwheat Flour, for which Willis J. Buckman of the Central Grocery is the sole Woburn agent, is as much superior to all other brands as it is possible to imagine. It is really the only flour for griddle-cakes that will regulate families thick of using, and when once eaten no other brand is wanted.

—Auctioneer E. J. Gregory was well satisfied with his vendue sale of the A. G. Carter property, No. 24 Church street, last Wednesday, and so was Mr. A. T. Carter. The property brought $1675—just what Mr. Gregory had appraised it at—and was worth it. The attendance at the sale was unusually large and the bidding brisk.

—Messrs. W. H. Smith & Co., Real Estate dealers and auctioneers of Boston and Woburn, advertise an important auction sale in this issue of the JOURNAL, which is worth looking into. The property is very desirable in every respect and will probably go cheap. There is no pleasure residence and farm in the vicinity of Boston than this, of which Mr. Smith gives a full and particular description in his advertisement. Read it.

—Mr. W. H. Cummings, the carpenter and builder, says the demand for houses is on the increase here. He has just begun the cellar for a house on Cleveland Ave., and contemplates plotting one of his tracts for residences and will build a few himself for sale. He is now remodeling the Abel Wyman place at Central Square and fixing everything in apple pie order. Mr. Cummings says the prospect for building and growth of the city next year is good.

—Mr. H. H. Keay has just put into elegant frames a picture of the ancient church Stratford-on-Avon—Shakespeare's, and also of Annie Hathaway's house near by, which were painted by W. Duggins of Redditch, England, from sketches made by him on the spot. They are fine pieces of work, the property of a gentleman living at Melrose Highlands, and the frames which Mr. Keay has put around them are neat, handsome, and entirely worthy of them.

—Attention is called to the notice of an Umbrella Drill to be given by 11 beautiful young ladies under the management of the ladies of Trinity Church, published in this paper. It should be remembered that at the close of the Drill the umbrellas will be sold at auction, which is expected to afford fun by the acre. Capt. H. N. Coma is meeting with great success in drilling the young ladies. And after these things comes the dance, for which a first-class Orchestra will supply music.

—The next meeting of the Woburn Woman's Club will be held in Music Hall, on Friday, Dec. 2nd at 3 p. m. Mr. Edward W. Emerson will read a paper on Thoreau. Mr. Emerson is the son of Ralph Waldo Emerson. He gave up the practice of Medicine for the study and pursuit of Art. He is well known as a lecturer on various subjects; his lectures on Artistic Anatomy at the School of Drawing and Painting at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, are very popular with the students.

—The voting for and awarding of the prizes at the Great Fair which the Hope Circle Daughters of Rebekah, are going to hold in Lyceum Hall on Dec. 8, 9, 10, are sure to make it the liveliest and jolliest affair ever seen in Woburn. The prizes are now on exhibition at the stores of Alex. Ellis, Hammond & Son and Willis J. Buckman, and already great interest is felt in the coming contest. It will be fun alive. The Daughters are working hard to make this the best Fair ever opened to a Woburn public.

—Like bread cast on the water Mr. Amos Cummings's letterheads containing reasons why Woburn should be regarded a desirable residence city, in several instances met with responses that should induce every business man among us to go and do as he has done. Parties have been constrained simply by that Cummings letterhead to come and "spy out the land," some of whom are sure to settle among us. Judicious advertising pays and if our business men would adopt Mr. Cummings plan and advertise Woburn by means of their letterheads it would certainly result in a more rapid growth of the city.

—Dr. J. Henry Hutchings is a successful specialist in diseases of the eye and ear and as such enjoys a large practice here and in Boston. He is a recent graduate of the best schools in Europe, and in London and other Capitals enjoyed thorough courses of hospital practice; besides which, he has supplied himself, on a liberal scale, with all the modern instruments and inventions necessary to achieve success in his special lines. His eye and ear patients come from far and near, and all speak highly of his skill.

—If things go according to programme the Comet now coursing the heavens will strike the Earth next Sunday and—get smashed into smithereens. It is supposed to be Biel's Comet, but some students of celestial affairs doubt it. Whether it is or not, it and the Earth have been engaged in a tremendous race for some weeks, the Comet all the time gaining on the Earth, and Sunday, if nothing happens to prevent, the grand smash will come. Some eminent astronomers don't believe it. They say the Comet has turned tail and is going the other way as fast as its legs can carry it. It changed its mind after reading the election returns. However, it will be well enough for us all to be prepared to give the Comet a warm reception next Sunday if it should happen to come.

—The JOURNAL gives a whole column of space this week to "The Woburn Course" and Lecture Course, Season of 1892-3," to which particular attention is directed. By carefully scanning the array of talent which Mr. Hadley has selected with such excellent judgment for the course it will be seen that there is not a poor piece among them, but contrariwise, every artist announced is a star in his and her sphere, and enjoys a countrywide reputation. This course is calculated to meet a demand on the part of the cultivated classes in this city for frigate musical and literary entertainments, and that it will fully and satisfactorily meet it the names of the artists engaged for the course is a guaranty. The series, for full particulars of which please read Mr. Hadley's announcement, ought to be and doubtless will be handsomely patronized by our people.

—Our lively and wideawake home reporters of the Boston papers have got a scheme for an extension of Montvale Ave., which is a daisy-on-paper. Their plan is a little blind, but they are experts with chain and compass and so slight an obstruction as the Orthodox meetinghouse they will find no trouble in overcoming. But when they propose to take the lot on the corner of Main and Common streets (it would puzzle a Philadelphian lawyer to find that "corner") for the new street to the Railroad station, and also take it for an entrance to the Municipal Building, the ideas of the reader become as confused as those of the reporters are "mixed." It is a daring, if not reckless, scheme, but these Boston reporters are equal to almost any undertaking—on paper—and it will not surprise us the least to see Montvale Ave., boldly making its way across Main street, through the church lot, to the railroad, any fine morning this winter.

—While down at Gloucester last week Mr. Forest Hooper, the plumber, shot a big bird which he called a "Norwegian Grouse" and brought it home. That afternoon a gentleman went into Hooper's store and spying the bird asked what it was. He was told, and then he enquired if it was edible. "Certainly," blandly responded Mr. Hooper, "and if I were keeping house I would have it for my supper." The gentleman said he would buy it if it didn't come too high, for he had heard a good deal about the "Norwegian Grouse" and would like to tickle his palate with one. Hooper made him a present of the bird and the man went home very much pleased with his good luck. The "Grouse" was neatly dressed and next morning put into the oven to roast. In the course of half an hour the kitchen range began to send forth a most sickening odor which soon permeated through every crack and crevice in the house and nearly drove the inmates into the streets. In the mean time there were no signs that the bird was anywhere near being "done" or would be in a condition to be served for dinner. The longer they roasted him the tougher he grew. The gentleman went home to dinner with bright visions of roast "Grouse" but when he entered the dining-room he was nearly knocked down by the stench that greeted his nostrils. He went back and saw Hooper about it, and was informed by him that he was extremely sorry for it, but he had made a mistake about the bird—it was a Loon instead of a "Norwegian Grouse," and he hoped the man would forgive him. We forgot to ask whether he did or not.

—Private funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. next Sunday at his late home; and a public funeral at the Methodist Church at 3 o'clock, same afternoon.

—You remain at home broken hearted, for you are utterly unable to make any effort whatever.

—The horror of "Female Complaints" is upon you if you have the distressing "bearing-down" feeling, your back aches, you are nervous and despondent, don't care to move, want to be left alone, your digestion is bad, and you are wholly prostrated.

—Ah! dear sister, don't you know that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will reach the cause of all this trouble, and you will surely be well.

—Don't hesitate. Get the remedy at once. It will cure you sure.

—The friends of education in the city of Woburn are respectfully asked by the JOURNAL to look at this list of candidates for School Committee: Daniel W. Bond, Edwin B. Blanchard, Richard H. Chamberlain, Martin J. Walsh, William A. Hyde. Now compare it with the Republican list.

—The Democracy had a terrible row at their Mayoralty convention last Tuesday night. The fight began at the drop of the hat and continued until the Kennedys, who were in a hopeless minority, quit the hall and organized a bolting convention in Savings Bank Hall.

—Mr. John I. Munroe presided. Hon. George F. Bean, who was supported by the respectable element of the party, was nominated for Mayor. The Rum element, headed by Martin of Montvale, who hates Bean, supported William C. Kenney, and were licked out of their boots. This element make a good deal of noise but are not numerically strong. Lawyer Curran couldn't get his speech in favor of Kenney in anywhere—the convention wouldn't hear it.

—The Cummings factory is doing finely and in time will increase to a large business. A general air of contempt prevails in the village.

—The fine Blaney residence has been leased to Adam Bentele for $35 per month. It is now used as a first-class boarding house and is full of patrons.

—Lans' Medicine Moves the Bowels Each Day. In order to be healthy this is necessary.

—The meeting held by the Board of Trade last Friday evening was a pleasant and profitable affair. Sec'y Lewis reported a larger percent of members present than has been seen at any gathering of the same for a long time.

—The interest manifested in the prosperity of the organization was encouraging, and the sentiment prevailed that there is a plenty of work yet for the Board to attend to, and that it is in a condition to respond to any demands made on it for aid in promoting the city's interest.

—Judge P. L. Converse read an original poem which was well received. President Adams of the State Board of Trade submitted some ideas on the duties and privileges of the local organizations, and urged the advisability of their joining the State Board as a means of increasing their influence and usefulness. Begging President Adams pardon, our advice to the Woburn "Board" is, "paddle your own canoe" and let the State Society severely alone.

—Just as soon as you cast in your lot with it it will begin to "paddle" and call on you for "does" and "fees," and all that sort of thing, and what will it give you in return? Nothing. Gentlemen, the Woburn Board has no money with which to pay salaries of "State Officers," you need all you have got, and can get; "paddle your own canoe."

—Mr. Frank Waterfield made some remarks introducing with a poem. A supper was eaten, and a good one too, and everybody said they had a nice time.

—It is said that meetings of like character will be held at short intervals during the winter. Which will be a good thing.

—At the Republican Ward caucuses held last Tuesday evening the following were nominated: Ward 1. Alderman, David W. Brown. Councilmen, Benjamin H. Nichols, Edward J. Phillips. Ward 2. Democratic Caucuses. Last Monday evening the Democracy of this city held caucuses to nominate candidates for Aldermen and Councilmen and to choose delegates to the convention held on Tuesday evening to nominate candidates for Mayor and School Committee. The following persons were put into the field:

Ward 1. Alderman, William F. Davis. Councilman, Michael J. Kennedy, James A. McAvoy.
Ward 2. Alderman, William R. Bartlett. Councilmen, Matthew J. McDonough, John H. Murphy.
Ward 3. Alderman, John H. Grangfield. Councilmen, Charles J. Quigley, William H. Little.

Ward 4. Alderman, Jacob M. Ellis. Councilmen, Albert F. Converse, Mark C. Felch.
Ward 5. Alderman, James McAvoy. Councilman, Augustus B. McCarthy.
Ward 6. Alderman, Edward E. Parker. Councilman, Daniel W. Bond.
Ward 7. Alderman, Patrick Daley. Councilman, John Doherty.

Several of the above candidates ought to be elected, for they are good men to take charge of the city's affairs. Among these are all in Ward 4. Ellis, Felch and Converse make a good working team, and no matter what the color of their politics may be, the business men, tax-payers, and all who have the interest of the public at heart should turn in and elect them triumphantly.

The same remarks apply with equal force to Davis of Ward 1. By his intelligence, integrity of purpose and vote, and upright official bearing, he won the respect of everybody, and ought to be re-elected.

Taken as a whole the nominations were not in any sense strong. There is a good deal of trash and considerable rotten timber among them. Edward E. Parker was a first-rate choice, for he is honest and competent; so also is William R. Bartlett, and if any good others; but a majority of the names would do the city no credit nor benefit its interests if elected. The hand of the "hoodlum" element, the entry of which into our local affairs will prove a dangerous thing, is too plainly seen in many of these nominations.

A Row. The Democracy had a terrible row at their Mayoralty convention last Tuesday night. The fight began at the drop of the hat and continued until the Kennedys, who were in a hopeless minority, quit the hall and organized a bolting convention in Savings Bank Hall.

Mr. John I. Munroe presided. Hon. George F. Bean, who was supported by the respectable element of the party, was nominated for Mayor. Boston Theatres.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Catering to please all tastes theatrically the management of the Grand Opera House will next week change its dramatic bill to one of highly-entertaining variety. Variety in all its varied styles will swoop down upon the stage of the Opera House and for fully three hours each evening at the Theatre on Tuesday and Saturday matinees entertainment will reign supreme. Fresh from a most successful two week's engagement at Proctor's Theatre, New York, Hopkins Trans-Oceanic Star Specialty Company comes to Boston, where it is promised a most enthusiastic and cordial welcome. The company is as good as its name is long. There isn't a dull line or an old thing in the entire exhibition, and if Bostonians will only appreciate good vaudeville, the Trans-Oceanics will make one of the greatest hits of the season. Following the Trans-Oceanics will come the pugilist actor, Mr. James J. Corbett, in his new play "Gentleman Jack."

THE BOWDOIN SQUARE.

"The Idea" has drawn large crowds to this theatre this week and everybody has been delighted with the splendid acting of [Hallen and Hart], the popular comedians. Next week, beginning on Nov. 28, "The Dazzler" will be presented here in splendid shape. Managers will be given no expense to put "The Dazzler" on in a style that will please everybody.

THE GLOBE.

A large and brilliant audience greeted with great enthusiasm "Diplomacy" at the Globe last Monday evening. It has not perceptibly diminished in size during the week. "Diplomacy" combines all the essential qualities for a successful play. It holds the audience from first to last and thereby affords pleasure to all. On next Monday night Mr. Richard Mansfield will open for a two weeks presentation of "The Scarlet Letter" at the Globe, with the usual matinees.

BOSTON MUSEUM.

"Nerves" won a marked and gratifying success on its first presentation at the Museum last Saturday evening and was continued to attract large and enthusiastic audiences since. It is given by a strong company and is itself a play which elicits warm popular favor. Kate Ryan, Woburn favorite, won a great success on Saturday evening in "Nerves" and her friends made her appearance memorable by awarding her warm popular favor. THE HOLLIS.

Last Monday evening Mr. E. H. Sothorn appeared at the Hollis for a fortnight's engagement in "Captain Lettibrain" and played to a big house. He is a prime favorite with Boston theatre-goers, as his father was before him, and whenever his name appears on the bill the theatre is sure to be filled. "Capt. Lettibrain" is a delightful play and the manner in which it is brought out is a credit to Manager Rich. Mr. Sothorn and a superb company.

THE BOSTON.

"Babes in the Wood," an old story told in a new and exceedingly entertaining way at the Boston every night and on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, has had marked success and been greatly enjoyed by large audiences composed of the best people of Boston and vicinity. It is a drawing play, and everybody is delighted with it. The company are a strong one.

THE PARK.

Rice's "Surprise Party" has filled the Park from pit to rafters every night with audiences who know good things when they see them. No more pronounced success has held the Boston stage for years than "1492." The 10th of Rice's popular Sunday evening concert will be given next Sunday Nov. 27, for which a splendid programme has been arranged.

THE COLUMBIA.

"Surrender" will occupy the stage here until further notice, judging from the great popularity of the piece, is some distance in the future. It well deserves its popularity for it is a capital entertainment in which splendid costumes and rich scenery figure conspicuously. Maud Banks is in the cast.

THE TREMONT.

The last week of Russell's Comedians will open on Monday evening, Nov. 28. Their engagement has been remarkably successful so far.

Committee of One Hundred.

The anti-license meeting held under the auspices of the Committee of One Hundred in Lyceum Hall last Sunday afternoon was all that the most ardent friends of the cause could have reasonably asked for. There were not a dozen vacant seats in that big hall, and at least 100 of those present were just the element most needed at such a meeting.

The speaking was of the best quality, and the music proved an important factor (pardon this hackneyed word) of the proceedings.

Public interest in this series of important gatherings is evidently on the increase, and unless all signs go for nothing their influence will be for good on the day of the city election.

One of the very best meetings of the series has been arranged for next Sunday afternoon (3 o'clock), to attend which a cordial invitation is extended to everybody.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

ALDERMAN IN WARD SIX.

Corroborative of the reports of our regular North Woburn correspondent and special contributors several gentlemen have informed us that politics are red hot in Ward Six. The chief contest is being waged between Messrs. Linscott and Daubson for the Aldermanship, and each side is stripped for the fight.

As near as we can find out there exists among the tax-payers and more influential portion of both political parties a strong desire for a change in their Aldermanic representation, and to accomplish it they have "pooled their issues" and entered the contest on Mr. Percy Linscott, son of Schoolmaster Linscott, who, his friends say, stands much more than an even chance of being elected. Discontent over the present management is very pronounced and deep-rooted on the part of both Republicans and Democrats by whom nothing that is fair and honorable will be left undone to elect their candidate.

Mr. Linscott, if elected, will make a good Alderman. He is a young man of excellent ability; he is well educated; and above all, he is thoroughly honest, high-minded, and eminently trustworthy everywhere and at all times. He does not enjoy the support of the "ward heeler" in North Woburn for the simple reason that they would have nothing to hope from his election in the way of "reward" for "political work." Mr. Linscott is not that sort of a man. But the best people in Ward 6 are working and will vote for him.

THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE.

Alderman Philip K. A. Richardson of Ward 3 is the regularly chosen Republican candidate for Mayor this year and stands more than an even chance of being elected. He is the party's standard-bearer in the present contest and a good one.

Mr. Richardson is a man about 30 years old. He is intelligent, well educated, and of exemplary habits. He understands business; is industrious and frugal. He has ideas and opinions of his own and is not afraid to voice them on proper occasions. He believes in laws and that they should be enforced. He elected illegal rum-selling will secure no more favor at his hands than any other class of violators of the laws. He is honest politically and personally.

But Ald. "Phil" Richardson is too well known by the voters of Woburn to require endorsement by the JOURNAL. He has shown mainly pluck and a clear sense of official duty on more than one occasion before the Board of Aldermen and can be trusted.

With the Democracy divided the Republicans have the chance given them to elect Ald. Richardson for Mayor. What are they going to do about it?

THEY FEEL CONFIDENT.

In their reports of progress the supporters of George F. Bean, Esq., for Mayor confidently predict his election on the 6th, and would back their opinions with big money if they were gambling people, which none of them are. They say that Mr. Bean, being a much stronger candidate than Mr. Richardson, is drawing to his support many voters who dread Kenney more than they love either Bean or Richardson, and that this would elect Bean even if other things were equal between the candidates.

It is the alleged desecration of Richardson's to Bean's camp materialize, and the claim seems to be plausible from the standpoint of Bean's superior availability, then we can see no reason why his friends should not feel considerably elated over the prospect of his success at the polls.

Well, as far as the JOURNAL is concerned it does not suppose that any fair-minded man would seriously deny Mr. Bean's eminent fitness for the office of Mayor, especially after having demonstrated it by an honorable and successful term in 1891.

VOTE "YES."

The Committee who revised the City Ordinances, consisting of ex-Mayors Johnson and Bean, and E. H. Linsbury, Esq., favor the adoption by the city of those provisions of the Public Statutes which provide for the creation of a Board of Health in accordance with the State law. As it is at present the Mayor, the Alderman and City Physician are ex officio made the Board of Health. If the city accepts the provisions of the State law the new law then there will be a permanent Board of Health appointed by the Mayor, each member serving for a term of three years, and selected because of his fitness for the position and not because he happens to hold some other office which has nothing to do with the kind of duties required of a Board of Health. Moreover, if the city accepts the provisions of the State law the Board of Health will have full and definite powers under the laws of the State, and not be dependent on legislation of the City Council.

LOOKS LIKE NO LICENSE.

We hear that the saloonists are worried over the situation. They think they see the handwriting on the wall. They are afraid their occupation will be a goner in 1893. The signs point very strongly to a "no-license" majority in this city next Tuesday. The people are aroused. They mean business. The saloonists have become arrogant and domineering. They assume to be political bosses, and to dictate nominations. The people have had enough of them. They want of rum and ranselling bosses in Woburn. Hence the prospect for a no-license majority next Tuesday.

WITH ONE EXCEPTION.

Every liquor dealer but one in this city supports Mr. William C. Kenney for Mayor.

Is that the kind of a man the respectable people of Woburn want to rule over them?

ELECT THEM.

The Republicans of Ward 7 should not fail to elect J. William Ellard for Councilman. They ought to be equally sure to elect Francis M. Pushee for Alderman.

VOTE NO LICENSE.

Every man who really wants to see Woburn a clean, prosperous city will vote "No" on the license question next Tuesday.

PHILIP K. A. RICHARDSON.

Born in Chelsea, February, 1863; graduated from Woburn High School Class '80; Alderman from Ward 3; Member of Aldine Engraving Company, Boston.

The comet failed to come to the scratch last Sunday night. It didn't quite dare to tackle old Mother Earth, although many timid souls awaited anxiously the final come-out. On Saturday "Wat" Brown said if the comet should strike Woburn he should pity the comet.

Mr. Edward F. Blanchard, Democratic nominee for School Board, is a cleanheaded young man and must "feel like a cat in a strange garret" sandwiched in with the crowd he is with. Chamberlain couldn't stand it, and the best thing Blanchard can do is to decline to run.

Last Thursday Mrs. George S. Hudson, the better half of the accomplished local reporter of the Boston Herald, whose residence is at No. 35 Starke st., visited her parents at Still River, and during her absence the head of the house managed to run the ranch on good shape.

The Grand Fair and sale by Hope Circle, D. of R., will open at Lyceum Hall on Thursday, Dec. 8, and continue until the Saturday evening following. A very attractive feature of the Fair will be the prizes and the award of them to the people receiving the most votes. Attention is called to the advertisement of the Fair in the JOURNAL.

Everybody who knows him feels sorry that Supt. Sewell is going to Malden to live. He and Mrs. Sewell have hosts of friends at No. Woburn and the Centre who regret the necessity which compels them to pull stakes in Ward 6 and remove to Malden. But as Supt. of the East Middlesex Mr. Sewell will make frequent visits to Woburn where people will be glad to see him.

Henry W. Tewksbury, who is to lecture in Mr. Hadley's Woburn Course next Wednesday evening, Dec. 7, is the equal of any lecturer on the New England platform and a prime favorite with patrons everywhere. He has selected for his theme next Thursday evening, "The Championship," in handling which his audience will be furnished with an evening of rare enjoyment.

Engineer John Clark's locomotive ran over and killed a man near Central Square last Friday evening, but who he was or where from nobody could tell. When engineer Clark stopped his engine nothing could be found of the man, but he was perfectly well when he had run over until a trainman discovered him sitting on the pilot as naturally as though alive. He was supposed to be a tramp.

Conductor Edward E. Taylor of the Boston & Maine returned last week from a very successful hunting excursion on the Cape, at Ware, and all along shore. He is a crack shot and game stands a poor show when he is on his trail. He bagged dead loads of Cape Cod quail and Ware partridges, and returned to his post of duty in flowing spirits. "E. E." is as popular as a conductor as he is skillful and true with the rifle and shotgun.

A novel and beautiful entertainment is to be given at the First Congregational church on next Thursday evening, Dec. 8, under the auspices of the Social Benevolent Society of the church, to consist of tableaux and music and called "Living Pictures of Bible Women." It will afford an evening of pure pleasure, and as the price of tickets is very low it is expected that there will be a crowded house, especially as the proceeds are to be devoted to the works of benevolence under the directions of the Society.

Mr. John Maxwell has just returned from a trip of several weeks in the South, Middle and Far West, during which he regained his usual health and came back robust, witty, tough "Uncle John" as of yore. He was delighted with the cities and country visited and fell especially in love with Denver which he pronounces one of the finest, richest and best built cities in the West. He found his son at Colorado Springs rapidly gaining health. Mr. Maxwell had flattering business offers at Kansas City and other points, but accepted none of them.

Dr. J. M. HARLOW, Woburn, Mass.

Dear Sir: I received your letter containing congratulations upon the staunch Republican victory in South Dakota, and I can only reciprocate in the emergency by extending my heartfelt sympathy to Massachusetts and her sister manufacturing States in the calamity which has overtaken our country and which most certainly will be felt severely there.

You ask my opinion of the effect here: As a true Republican of course I can but lament the result in general, but a close study of the outlook for South Dakota forces the conclusion that in our case at least out of the scouring is sure to come a great blessing. What is your loss will be our gain. Manufacturing has certainly received a severe blow and the result must be that capital will be gradually withdrawn from manufacturing centers. That which is thus withdrawn must look about for some safe and sure investment. Looking over the entire United States it finds the South over-boomed and fast sliding down the road of blasted hopes and turbulent contention. It finds Kansas torn from centre to circumference by Granger legislation, Peoples Party vagaries, and foreclosed mortgages. It finds Texas drought-stricken and Democratic. It finds the Pacific slope over-crowded and with the bottom out of her many land schemes and town site booms. Almost alone South Dakota stands true and staunch Republican, with all Populist and Alliance agitators relegated so far to the rear that they can never hope for resurrection. It finds South Dakota with more than a hundred million bushels of wheat grown on her soil in the two past years; corn, oats, flax, barley and all other grain without measure, and live stock covering her prairies by millions. Her farm lands have more than doubled in price in eighteen months. New railroads are building in almost every county, and a general air of prosperity is felt in every town and city. Surely of all the country, here capital must look for safe investment. And I will only ask you to preserve my prediction for future reference for corroboration: The next two years will be witness to such advancement in South Dakota as no other State has shown in any similar length of time.

Respectfully yours,
H. M. AVERY.

Who Owns Ward 6?

Ep. JOURNAL: The recent Republican caucus of Ward 6 was an exhibition of the most shameless surrender of its rights to the behests of one man that Woburn has seen for many a day. Alderman Dearborn having carefully filled the room with his adherents, many of whom were Democrats who had no right to be there, proceeded, after the caucus was called to order, to take charge and to run it to suit himself.

After his nomination had been thus secured, he read off a list of delegates to the city convention which he had previously prepared and his adherents promptly elected them.

At the close of the caucus the Alderman opened two boxes of cigars which he had brought in and proceeded to treat the men who had so completely sold out to him.

The caucus did however rise to the plane of self-respect and voted that Mr. A. R. Linscott and Mr. G. W. Barker, two gentlemen of the highest respectability, "should fill any vacancy occurring in the delegation."

It was stated at the caucus, as an exhibition of the right to the city, that the city would only vote no-license if the law—how much those who have seen his surrender to the rum-power will well judge.

The self-respecting Republicans of Ward 6 are tired of being longer represented in the city government. Recognizing the right to the bolt, they have nominated a man who has put in nomination Mr. PERCY LINSSCOTT, a young man clear headed and intelligent, who all his life has been identified with the interests of the Ward, and whose principles will not be in the market for disposal. It is hoped and believed that he will receive a generous vote and be elected.

WARD 6.

Y. M. C. A.

A few good Christian gentlemen are doing all that lies in their power to keep the breath of life from leaving the body of the Y. M. C. Association of this city, but it is a question whether they will succeed or not. Their hearts are in the good work but they get no help or encouragement to speak of from the churches or world's people, and the fight which they are making for the coming winter is a tough and discouraging one. But with old George Heath they sing:

Oh watch and light and pray,
The battle never give over;
Renew it boldly every day,
And help divine inspire.

And thus they pray and sing and keep going away and hope to win at last. God help them!

The least people can do just now is to patronize the course of entertainments which is running for the benefit of the Association. They are first-class and are worth all they cost as musical and literary treats. They ought to be liberally supported by all who have the welfare of the community, and especially of young men, at heart. Draw your wallets, good folks, and help the cause along.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, DEC. 9, 1892.

The Journal is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 105 Main Street, Charles H. Brown, 106 Main Street, John Cummings, 33 Cambridge Street, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.
All advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

OUR CANDIDATES.

The Journal has caused for a reasonable amount of rejoicing last Wednesday morning. Its candidates, as a general thing, came out on top. Those whose defeat it particularly desired were snuffed under. Its choice for Mayor pulled through in good shape. Davis and Pushee and Ellis and Bartlett got there with both feet, and Linscott tied his opponent. Ellard and Fox and Kennedy and Cutler were handsomely elected.

Then the School Board. The Journal was especially anxious for the triumph of the Republican ticket. It triumphed! All honor to the noble women to whose efforts was due the splendid result. It was "glory enough for one day."

And then No License! Well, that was the capstone. The Journal did its level best to carry the city for "no license." To its comprehension it was the question of all others, and it worked for the magnificent result which was achieved on Tuesday. "No" triumphed!

Why shouldn't the Journal feel happy?

DECLINES TO FIGHT.

Although it is safe to say that but for the blunders of Republican voters at the polls Mr. Haile would have been the next Governor of this State there will be no legal contest over the question. Mr. Russell will take his seat on January 1 for another term without opposition.

Mr. Haile's conclusion is a wise one. Mr. Russell was legally elected and there the matter should end. The baby face comes with ill grace from the defeated party. The result showed this however that with a more popular candidate the Republicans might have won the Governorship easily. Although one of the best men in the State Mr. Haile's candidacy aroused no enthusiasm among the masses and he failed to gather in several thousand ballots that a more juicy candidate would have got.

REDEEMED.

Temperance triumphed here last Tuesday. Its advocates achieved a splendid victory. The majority against license was 251. Every Ward but one voted "No!" It was a magnificent result of earnest, faithful work. To the Committee of One Hundred belongs the credit of placing Woburn in the list of anti-liquor cities and towns. All honor to Rev. George A. Crawford, D. D., Griffin Place, Henry McGowan, Rev. Dr. March, D. D., Rev. William C. Burrows and others for the splendid work they did in the campaign for Humanity, God and the Home. To their bold, earnest, judicious labor, humbly aided by the Woburn Journal, was due the great, grand and glorious turnover last Tuesday.

All honor to the Committee of One Hundred and its stalwart leaders.

JAY GOULD.

The great New York railroad money king is dead and gone and will soon be forgotten. Not many tears were shed at his funeral on Monday, and there were no mourners outside of the family and the circles of the very rich.

Jay Gould was not a person whom the common people loved over much. He made nearly $100,000,000 in a lifetime not very long, which is more money than most people think can be honestly accumulated by one man no matter how long he lives. Jay Gould wrecked many fortunes and blasted many hopes, produced great sorrow, and shortened lives. He was indeed a very "N poleon of finance," but the trouble with him was he was heartless. Hence the death of tears over his bier.

WILL MAKE A GOOD MAYOR.

The only objection that anybody heard against the candidacy of Philip K. A. Richardson was lack of age. That fact speaks well for a young man. And besides, the objection is one that time will remedy.

The Journal expects an honest and able administration by Mayor Richardson. It has good grounds for the expectation. It has not forgotten the manly stand he took on the Connolly license and the leasing of pool in barrooms, and other important questions. "Phil" Richardson will not disappoint his friends, if his official record is any guide to base conjectures on.

COULDN'T KILL HIM.

The Kenney faction tried hard to kill Mr. J. M. Ellis in Ward 4, but he didn't kill a word a cent. Ellis fairly buried Kendrick under an avalanche of ballots.

It will be found a good thing to have "Jake" Ellis on the Board of Aldermen.

GRAND RALLY.

The Committee of One Hundred will hold a grand ratification meeting at Lyceum Hall at 3 o'clock next Sunday afternoon. Local clergymen and laymen will conduct it and make the speeches.

Come everybody!

ELECT LINSOOTT.

At the next trial the good people of No. Woburn ought to elect Percy W. Linscott. They can do it. Ward 6 needs a clean man to represent it on the Aldermanic Board. Mr. Linscott is just that sort of a man. Elect him.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

The city election last Tuesday resulted in a substantial Republican triumph. The Republican party in this city is a mighty lively institution.

BUT ONE.

Even Ward 5 voted against license? Is the Millennium at hand? Every Ward in the city but one voted "No." Good!

THE RING.

The election of last Tuesday smashed the "Municipal Building Ring" into smithereens.

We are informed that several members of the next City Council want E. H. Lounsbury, Esq., for City Clerk, and that if he consents to the arrangement he will probably be Mr. Moreland's successor. A wiser or better choice could not be made.

In the event of Mr. Lounsbury being elected City Clerk why would it not be a judicious thing to do to make Mr. Charles K. Conn Clerk of the Common Council and Committees, the posts now occupied by Mr. Lounsbury? Mr. Conn is in every way admirably equipped for the office. He is orderly and methodical in his habits; prompt in the discharge of duty; courteous; and is well posted in clerical work. He has not been an applicant for public office since Woburn has been a city, and why would it not be well to elect him to take Mr. Lounsbury's shoes, providing that gentlemen cast them off to accept a proffered promotion?

There was a remarkable turnover on the run question in the Massachusetts cities that held elections last Tuesday. Eight of the 21 changed from "yes" to "no," and only 4 changed the other way. But the vote was the most significant. The net gain for anti-license in the same cities this year over last was about 8000.

The Republican Editorial Association of Massachusetts will hold their annual meeting for the election of officers at 2A Beacon Street, Boston, at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 14. President Cook and Secretary Miller earnestly desire a full attendance of members.

Philip Richardson of Woburn, his honor-elect, is, we believe, the youngest mayor in Massachusetts for 1893. He was born in '63.—Boston Record.

Not only the youngest but there are none of them any smarter than he is. Alderman-elect Ellis should be kept at the head of the Almshouse Department. His incumbency of the post has been a great benefit to the city.

Don't forget the grand rally of the Committee of 100 at Lyceum Hall at 3 o'clock next Sunday afternoon. It will be a lively one.

It was W. C. Kenney's backing that killed him. Personally he is all right. It was another case of "Fray, Blanche and Sweetheart."

The St. Charles Benevolent Society propose to give a Coffee Party early in January the proceeds to be used for charitable purposes.

Mrs. Jennings is filling up her shelves, showcases, windows and counters with holiday wares, of which she will offer to the public a great variety.

The Committee of One Hundred will keep up their organization and continue the work they have so well begun. They will give law-breakers no peace.

We wish to take this opportunity to remind the people of Woburn of the annual New Year's party at the Home for Aged Women the first week in January. Expenses have been very heavy the past year and all such donations will be most thankfully received.

Hose 6 entertained the Woburn Fire Department with a nice clam supper last evening at their house on Clinton Street, Central Square.

Mrs. M. F. Pollard will hold a sale of crepe paper novelties commencing Monday, Dec. 12, at Mrs. Maxwell's millinery store, No. 419 Main Street.

It is pleasant to learn that Miss Emma Fredrick, the talented teacher of the guitar, banjo and mandolin, is having all the business she can attend to this winter.

The stockholders of the First National Bank will hold a meeting for the election of Directors on Tuesday, Jan. 10, so Mr. Cashier Day announces in the Journal this week.

Last Wednesday we were favored with a pleasant call from Mrs. G. M. Cheever of Stoneham, formerly of this city. She is carrying on a fine millinery business over there.

Brakenham Lord got out of it better than was feared he would. He was not so badly injured as he might have been and is now getting on all right at his home at Wilmington.

Last Tuesday evening we had a brief but pleasant call from our old and esteemed friend Mr. J. L. Smith of Winchester, near Locke's Hill, and hope to enjoy "many returns of the same."

Hammond & Son propose to invest big in printing ink for the holiday trade. They believe in it. Nobody in this city begins to put so much money into it as they do. Hence their immense trade.

Mr. Preston, present City Auditor, will decline a re-election. The duties of his new position as Secretary of the Boston Chamber of Commerce require his individual attention. He has made a competent and faithful city official.

The old 32d Regiment of Mass. Vol. Association will partake of their 28th annual dinner at the American House in Boston on Dec. 13, the anniversary of the Battle of Fredericksburg. A number of the members reside in Woburn.

The silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Henry Parker was duly celebrated at their residence on Salem Street last Sunday evening. These people have no end of warm friends and it is entirely safe to say the anniversary was a great success.

Many Woburn people will recollect Mrs. Laura J. Sims, the death of whose husband in San Francisco is announced in this paper. She was Miss Laura J. Webster, a niece of Mr. A. F. Morrill of this city, and was for years a dressmaker here.

The wife of our esteemed friend, Mr. Harrison Bates of Winchester, who has been dangerously ill of late, is much better and is likely to regain her health entirely. She is about 80 years old. The venerable couple have the best wishes of the Journal.

Col. Nat. Richardson's explanation of what he meant to say in his lengthy notice of the Woburn celebration is more confusing to the average mind than his original statements, and taken together a Philadelphia Lawyer would be puzzled to find out his meaning.

At 7 o'clock next Sunday evening a Circuit Meeting will be held at the Unitarian Church which is expected to be very interesting. The theme, "Fraternal Affirmation," will be discussed by Rev. A. W. Littlefield of Winchester; Rev. W. H. Pierson of Somerville; Rev. H. C. DeLong of Medford.

Doubtful if we would have been able to enjoy the "Living Pictures of Bible Women," a fine entertainment given under the auspices of the Social Benevolent Society of the Congregational Church last evening, but for the courtesy of Mr. J. H. Buck who paved the way for our getting there in a generous manner. Thanks.

Aberjona Colony, 131, United Order Pilgrim Fathers, an insurance organization, held a social at their hall last evening. Deputy Supreme Governor Parant of Lawrence was present and made remarks for the good of the Order. There were also present several members of Brewster Colony. A collection was served by McConnell.

The following gentlemen were chosen officers of the St. Charles Benevolent Society last Sunday: President, Richard Morris; Vice-President, James F. McKenna; Secretary, John Lynch; Treasurer and Chaplain, Rev. James Gilday. The society has been only recently organized but it receives an enthusiastic support from all quarters.

The officers of Barbank Post, No. 33, G. A. R., for the current year are: Commander, Bernard Fletcher; Senior Vice, James Walker; Junior Vice, Rufus R. Whitten; Surgeon, Joseph Johnson; Quartermaster, John F. Larkin; Chaplain, Andrew R. Linscott; Officer of Day, William C. G. Colegate; Officer of Guard, Wm. Arnold.

Professor John Moore, an educated and travelled gentleman, will give the first of a series of three popular lectures in the vestry of the First Baptist Church at 8 o'clock next Monday evening. His subject will be "Sights and Profits in Scotland and Ireland." Prof. Moore's platform productions are highly spoken of by press and people.

Mr. E. Prior, auctioneer, will sell for Mr. W. B. Gay, mortgagee, and John W. Johnson, Esq., Attorney, the risk property, late Sun Electric Light Co.'s factory, at public auction on next Tuesday. The property is very valuable for manufacturing purposes and ought to fetch a handsome price. There is no better business site in the city.

Mr. Charles M. Munroe sets forth in plain and unmistakable language just what he is prepared and is willing to do for the public in the way of supplying first-class suits, overcoats, gentlemen's underwear, hats, gloves, jewelry, etc., in his advertisement in this paper to which particular attention is called. The fact that Mr. Munroe conducts a No. 1 clothing establishment no one attempts to deny. That he sells cheap is equally true. That the public appreciate the courtesy of Mr. Munroe and his clerks is demonstrated every hour in the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright have returned from Pennsylvania and resumed their residence in this city. Mr. Wright has been in the leather making business at Ludlow and Titusville in that State for two or three years past and may be back there some time hereafter. Mrs. Wright is a member of the Pine Tree Club and lately visited her old home at Waterville, Me.

At the recent yearly meeting held by the Friday Night Club the following officers were duly elected: President, Dr. Robert Chalmers; Vice-President, Rev. Henry C. Parker; Mrs. Charlotte W. Ham; Secretary, Miss Alice M. Grammer; Treasurer, Austin W. Parker; Directors, Mrs. Squire B. Goddard, Parker L. Converse, Miss Alice C. Champney, Miss Edith Platts.

The ladies of the First Congregational Parish are going to hold a fair on next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Dec. 13 and 14, for full particulars of which see their announcement in this paper. They give all the salient points and we fail to see where we could put in a word to improve the notice. All we wish to say is, that the object of the Fair is a laudable and worthy one.

W. E. Blodgett, the well known lawn tennis expert and commentator, is a queer genius. His odd idiosyncrasies often show themselves in his tennis compositions. Also in private correspondence. For example: He ordered copies of the Journal of Dec. 2 and 9: the first to read the Editor's prophecies on the city election; the other to read his reasons why the prophecies were not fulfilled.

J. Durward, Jr., proprietor of one of the best markets in this city, has his plans all laid for giving our people the privilege of picking from the largest and best stock of Christmas turkeys, ducks and geese offered for sale in Woburn. Householders who want "the best" for the Christmas and New Year's dinner will do well to give Durward's market an early call for it will beat them all.

Whoever fails to attend the grand Fair of Hope Circle, D. of R., this and tomorrow evenings will miss a fine thing and tip-top entertainments. Remember too the Children's Reception tomorrow afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock. Entertainments are given free. The Fair is open with great cord and encouraging auspices last evening, and the ladies are doing everything to make it a success. For all the particulars see the advertisement in this paper.

While driving in the edge of Winchester last Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Lund of this city had a narrow escape from serious if not fatal injury. Their team was struck by a runaway horse attached to a mud cart and both were thrown violently to the ground. Mr. Lund's wagon was badly smashed and his horse ran off, but very fortunately neither he nor Mrs. Lund were seriously hurt. It was a close call, though.

The second annual Grand Fair of the American Mechanics Association will open in Mechanics Building, Main and Walnut Streets, on next Wednesday, Dec. 14, and continue 4 days. Season tickets 50 cents; single tickets 25 cents. There will be a Children's Matinee on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 17. This fair is to be one of the largest and best fairs ever held in Woburn, and as its object is a worthy one it ought to be liberally patronized.

Mr. James Cutler, of Andrews, Cutler & Co., is just more than delighted with his electric motor, and wanders now why they never had one before. As pressman Mr. Cutler has boiled, fried, roasted and toasted along side of a steam boiler with the thermometers indicating 100 outside and 600 or 700 inside year after year; but now it is different—the electric motor has superseded steam, and life is worth living again. At least so thinks Mr. Cutler. Electricity is truly a big thing.

Woburn Post, No. 161, G. A. R., have elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Commander, Henry C. Hall; Senior Vice, George L. Tebbetts; Junior Vice, Benjamin F. Smith; Quartermaster, Newell Z. Taber; Chaplain, Rev. George A. Crawford; Surgeon, Dr. Frank W. Graves; Officer of Day, Alonzo L. Richardson; Officer of Guard, John W. Nichols; Delegates, Edwin P. Weyer; Rev. William C. Burrows; Alternates, John Maloney, Dr. Frank W. Graves. During his incumbency of the Chair Dr. Frank W. Graves, whose shoes Major Henry C. Hall stepped into last Monday evening, has done more for Post 161 than any former Commander and his valuable services have been duly recognized. He put time, work and enthusiasm into the discharge of the duties of the office and raised the organization from a weakling to one of the strongest Posts in the State.

Director Lewis, of the Lewis Music School, has been fortunate in securing the services of Claude Fisher, of Boston, the noted soloist and teacher. Mr. Fisher can hereafter be engaged for Violin Lessons through Director Lewis only, as far as Woburn and surrounding towns are concerned. Hours available are Tuesdays and Fridays, 3.30 to 7 p. m. Those who desire different arrangements as were provided for the former teacher, Mr. Hartmann, and all others wishing first class instruction can be accommodated at the Lewis Music School. Mr. Hartmann has terminated his connection with the school and is leaving for good. Mr. Fisher begins his work at once. He will be heard in Concert here soon. Get Back.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Frankford Trull of Montvale Ave., returned from their extended Western trip last Friday well satisfied with the voyage and the return. They went from Montreal via the Northern Pacific Railway to its western terminus, thence down to Seattle, Portland, etc., and from there to San Francisco. From this point they visited the Yosemite and other California wonders, and then proceeded down the coast to Los Angeles, San Diego, and other Pacific Slope towns and cities, and highly enjoyed all they saw.

Mr. and Mrs. Trull were away seven weeks in which time they travelled many thousand miles. In California they were treated to an earthquake as a mark of respect. All travellers are not furnished with such rare entertainments as earthquakes. We are glad to have them at home once more.

The Parasol Drill.

The neatest and prettiest entertainment to which the amusement-loving citizens of Woburn have been treated this season or any other was the "Parasol Drill" given under the management of the ladies of Trinity (Episcopal) Church in Lyceum Hall on last Monday evening. It was a novel thing but everybody liked it immensely and when the end of it came praises of it were on every tongue.

The Hall was crowded, except the space left for the evolutions of the fair performers, with the best people of the city whose demands for tickets kept Mr. John Seaver, gracefully presiding in the box office, as busy as a bee handling out the slips of postcard, and Mr. S. Frankford Trull equally lively in taking them in. The galleries were packed with feminine beauty and masculine grace all eager for a sight of the delightful show.

The Drill was performed by 17 beautiful maidens—a Captain and 16 Privates—dressed in elegant gowns of National colors, each carrying a brilliantly variegated Chinese Parasol, the "whole forming a lovely picture." The names of the maidens were: Miss Grace Clement, Captain; and Misses Mabelle Ferguson, Florence DeLaud, Lucy Barrett, Katherine Ramsdell, Florence Parkhurst, Edith Platts, Florence York, Adeline Giddings, Marion Carter, Anna York, Minnie Dean, Martha Conn, Adelaide Richards, Ada Carter, Gertrude Wood, Millie Walker, Privates.

On the march, going through intricate evolutions, or executing the manual of arms, they presented a charming spectacle which elicited the most enthusiastic applause from pit and gallery. Many figures and positions were exquisitely carried out, and evinced the best of martial training.

Captain Horace N. Conn, Drillmaster, kept a sharp eye on the movements, but so thoroughly had he drilled the young ladies that professional interference was seldom necessary. Capt. Conn is one of the best educated and most thorough military men in this city, and as a Drillmaster he has no superiors anywhere. He carried through his part in this delightful affair in fine style.

The Woburn Orchestra furnished admirable music for the occasion. It was of a superior quality, and we thought while listening to them with much pleasure, why go to Boston for Orchestra music when we have the Woburn Orchestra with us. Their selections were popular ones, and the execution of them was above criticism. Our people should be proud of such an Orchestra.

The Drill lasted nearly an hour, and the spectators would gladly have watched it double that length of time. Every corner of the floor and every figure was simply perfect. And then the fair maidens did look so charming.

A dance followed this beautiful "Parasol Drill."

Mrs. Blake.

Mrs. Frances Church Blake, wife of Mr. Freeman D. Blake, a resident of this city, died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Childs, in Oakland, California, on Nov. 27, of consumption. Mrs. Blake lived in the Hanson residence on Canal Street, when here and at the time of her breaking up housekeeping for a visit to California, and she will be affectionately remembered by many Woburn people and her death sincerely lamented.

Mrs. Blake was an estimable lady, and made many warm friends during her residence in this city which has been the home of her now bereaved husband for many years. Her parents reside, and she passed her girlhood, in San Francisco's beautiful suburb, Oakland, and there became acquainted with her future husband.

The family came East and took up their residence in Woburn, where they lived pleasantly until some two years ago, when they came to California for an extended visit. On symptoms of pulmonary consumption developed and since then Mrs. Blake has been battling against the disease, but without successful progress was made, and finally fatal.

The deceased left a husband, a young son, a father and mother, and relatives and many friends to mourn her loss. This community sympathize with Mr. Blake in his deep affliction.

THE BEST
APERIENT

In modern pharmacy is, undoubtedly, Ayer's Cathartic Pills. Except in extreme cases, physicians have abandoned the use of drastic purgatives, and recommended a milder, but no less effective medicine. The favorite is Ayer's Pills, the superior medicinal virtues of which have been established to under the official seals of chemists, as well as by hosts of eminent doctors and pharmacists. No other pill so well supplies the demand of the general public for a safe, certain, and agreeable family medicine.

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine I ever used, and in my judgment no better general remedy was ever devised."

I have used them in my family and caused them to be used among my friends and employes for more than twenty years. To my certain knowledge many cases of constipation, biliousness, headache, dizziness, indigestion, and other ailments, have been cured by the use of Ayer's Pills. Three days' health, dizziness, indigestion, biliousness, headache, dizziness, indigestion, and other ailments, have been cured by the use of Ayer's Pills, continued for a few days or weeks, as the nature of the complaint may require. I have named above, J. O. Wilson, Contractor and Builder, Sullivan, N. H., who writes:

"For eight years I was afflicted with constipation, which at last became so bad that the doctors could do no more for me. Then I began to take

LETTERS OUTSIDE THE MAIL BAGS.

One Direction in Which the Mail Service of England is Far Ahead of Ours.

It is more than a year since a contributor called the attention of the United States postal authorities to the fact that British railway companies were carrying letters, under an arrangement with her majesty's postoffice, outside the mail bags, and that this was a grand convenience to many of her majesty's subjects.

The British railway companies have been carrying letters in this way for two or three years, and what was originally an experiment is today a demonstrated success. The number of letters so carried in one year in Great Britain was 145,000,000 and in Ireland 12,000,000.

We are indebted to Mr. Henry L. Goodwin, of East Hartford, who last interest in postal reforms during the past few years has been a most substantial service to the whole American people, for a copy of the agreement between her majesty's postmaster general and the seventy-five British railway, tramway and steamship companies that are thus co-operating with the department.

Each company agrees to receive any of its passenger stations and to forward any letter bearing a postage stamp or stamps of the value of one penny, not exceeding one ounce in weight and not containing a watch, jewelry or coin of the realm. For this service the company is authorized to collect two pence from the sender of the letter, and this is the sole compensation it gets.

Any subject of her majesty can post a letter and have it delivered into the hands of his fellow subject to whom it is addressed, if living within two miles of the postoffice, at the rate of three pence for each mile or fraction of a mile. If the distance exceeds two miles and there is no public conveyance available in both directions, "the actual cost of a special conveyance, as far as the postoffice is concerned, is added."

It is this service which the department desires to extend so as to cover the letters sent outside the mail bags.

How great a convenience the chance to send letters in this new British fashion would offer to the citizens of this glorious republic hardly needs pointing out. At present some of our passenger trains have railway postoffices attached to them, and the sender of a letter can post it on the train personally. The railroad men are not allowed to do it for him. In the cities there are mail boxes at the railway stations, but in the country towns these are conspicuously absent.

A great many passenger trains now carry closed mails. If there were slots in the mail bags for the insertion of letters, and if the baggage master in charge were allowed for a reasonable fee to pop the letters of belated citizens into them, a great deal of time would be saved and a great deal of inconvenience and annoyance avoided.—Hartford Courant.

Roads in Ecuador.

In these days when so much is said in American newspapers about the importance of good roads, it may be interesting to know how such matters are looked upon in Ecuador. Mr. Whympy, in his book, says:

"I had been rebuked in Quito for objecting to the 'Royal' route, because our animals had sunk half way up to their flanks. When I asked my monitor what he considered a bad road, he replied:

"A road is bad when the beasts tumble into mud holes and vanish right out of sight."

At one place my animal stopped on the brink, unwilling to proceed. Dismounting I gave it a touch with the whip. It went head first into the slough, and emerged on the other side a miserable object, dripping with filth, which for a second had risen above its hindquarters.

This mud hole was about four feet deep, and was the finest we discovered in Ecuador.

A Misquoted Proverb.

Perhaps no English proverb or proverbial phrase is more frequently misquoted than the one that speaks of hitting a nail on the head. Unthinking people almost always say the "right nail," which is absurd. The joiner who hit the wrong nail would be a "duffer" indeed, but an expert hand may now and then hit his nail otherwise than fairly on the head.—Notes and Queries.

APOSTOLIC COUNSEL.

LESSON XI, FOURTH QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, DEC. 11.

Text of the Lesson, Acts xv, 12-29. Memory Verse, 1-3. Golden Text, Acts xv, 11.—Commentary by the Rev. Dr. M. Starnes.

12. This verse introduces us to a gathering of the church at Jerusalem, Paul and Barnabas also being present and declaring before them all the wonders which God had wrought among the Gentiles by them.

The first part of the chapter tells why the apostles had left Antioch and the cause of his council at Jerusalem. The principal point of dispute was: Can Gentiles be saved by faith in Christ, or must they also be circumcised before they can be saved?

Peter told what he had seen of the gift of God upon the uncircumcised, and now Paul and Barnabas tell what they have seen of the same grace.

13. James now sums up in the evidence and gives his decision. James, the brother of John, had been slain (xii, 2), so this must be James the son of Alphaeus (Math. x, 3), the author of the epistle of James.

14. In verses 14 to 18 we have a complete and concise summary of the purpose of God with the church, the Jews and the Gentiles. The purpose of the present discussion is not the conversion of the world, but, as it is written here, to take out of the nations a people for His name.

15. And to agree to the words of the prophets. While the gathering of one body of Jews and Gentiles on equal terms is not clearly revealed in the Old Testament, it is clearly revealed in the New Testament. Paul and Barnabas, who were to bless all nations through the nation of Israel, were very clearly revealed; and it is also written in the New Testament that the Lord God will do nothing but He reveals His secret unto His servants, the prophets (Amos ii, 7).

16. "After this I will return, and will build again the tabernacle of David." The restoration here spoken of has never yet taken place, for the prophet says that when it does take place Israel shall be planted in their land and never be pulled up any more (Amos ii, 9). Before this restoration of Israel as a nation the elect church must be completed.

17. After the conversion of Israel as a nation, then shall nations be converted, for the time will come when all kings shall fall down before Him, all nations shall serve Him (Ps. lxxii, 1). As one has said, "It is now some Jews and some Gentiles the elect church, then it will be all the Jews (Isa. li, 10-22; Jer. xxxi, 33, 34), and then that all the Gentiles (Isa. li, 1-3, II, 12).

18. There is no surprise to God in any thing that comes to pass, and He does nothing but what He eternally He did not think that He would do.

19. Understanding the purpose of God James says that the present election was not to be by any special connection with Jewish rites, but by simple faith in Jesus, and by His grace who ever will, without respect to persons, may be saved (verses 7-11).

20. He advised writing to the Gentile converts that having received Jesus, and therefore being saved, they should abstain from all defilements of idolatry and uncleanliness, and observe in their eating such things as the ceremonial law would be for their health and prove them to be separate from the leaven about them (II Cor. vi, 17, 18).

21. It was customary to read from Moses and the prophets in the synagogue every Sabbath day (xlii, 15, 27), and Jesus Himself had testified that Moses wrote of Him that all Scripture referred to Him, and that He had come not to destroy, but to fulfill (John v, 46; Luke xiv, 27, 44; Math. v, 17).

22. Having come to this decision it pleased the apostles and elders of the church at Jerusalem to send to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas, and some of the brethren as Barnabas and Silas, that not only might the Christians at Antioch learn the truth of the counsel by letter, but also by the testimony of these brethren.

23. Listen now to the letter and hear how the apostles at Jerusalem, addressing the Gentile believers as brethren, remind them of the grace of God and the love of the Holy Spirit. What a contrast to the old saying that the Jews have no dealings with the Samaritans! I myself have heard a "brethren" saying that he felt like knocking a man down who called him brother. Such was not the spirit of the apostles.

24. Such troubles and subverters still live, and pervert the word of God and misrepresent the grace of God, as far as they can, by saying that we believe as they do, and that their communion we cannot be saved; whereas, the truth is, we cannot be saved unless we have something to do before we can be saved, and yet others insist that we cannot know whether we are saved till we die.

25. The letter testifies to the love of the church toward Barnabas and Paul, to the unity of the church at Jerusalem in this matter, and to their great interest in the Gentile brethren at Antioch. All true believers are members of the one body.

26. Barnabas and Paul are honorably mentioned because of their suffering for Christ's sake. Some of these were mentioned in last lesson. See a full list in II Cor. xi, 23-28. And yet here Paul says, "None of these things move me," and "the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us" (Acts xx, 34; Rom. viii, 18).

27. Written sermons are good sometimes, and letters are often very helpful, but a testimony by word is much richer than the heart is best of all. In this case they have both the written and the spoken testimony.

28. Observe the partnership of the Holy Spirit and the church, and compare chapter xlii, 2. Every one who receives Jesus Christ also receives the Holy Spirit, and becomes His temple, every whit of which He jealously desires for the glory of God (I Cor. vi, 19, 20; Jas. iv, 5, R. V., margin). Jesus said to His apostles when He sent them forth, "It is not ye that speak, but the Spirit of your Father which speaketh in you" (Matt. x, 20). See also Acts xvi, 7, and let us covet earnestly to be completely under the control of our Blessed Comforter and Guide.

29. The body which kept wholly for God and fully yielded to Him, the Spirit would take full possession and God be glorified. There is nothing but the Holy Spirit in the service of Christ. "His commandments are not grievous" (I John v, 3). His yoke is easy and His burden is light (Matt. xi, 30). The Christians at Antioch were made glad by this letter and these words from the brethren (verses 31, 32). Words from God are always intended to make us glad and give us peace if we are honestly desirous of walking with Him. See Jer. xxix, 11; Ps. lxxviii, 8; I John i, 4.

HER SECRET.

Wonderful Complexion Which No One Could Explain.

All Women Were Envious of Her For Many Years.

Now they know all about it and follow her example.

A lady well-known in our social circles has for years been at once the envy and admiration of all the ladies hereabouts, on account of the wonderful preservation of her health and beauty, and particularly because of her clear and dazzling complexion.

She has been many times urged by her acquaintances and friends to disclose the secret of her marvellously youthful appearance. Last evening she grew confidential to a little knot of friends, and among them was present, and her secret is now a secret no longer.

"Why it is really no secret at all," she said. "A perfect complexion depends upon just two things, strong nerves and a good digestion."

"Most women are excessively nervous, weak and languid, and as a result their complexions are sallow and their faces pinched, drawn and wrinkled. Female difficulties always aggregate the trouble. Few women have perfect digestion. Now obviously, if women with sound health and good complexions must get their nerves strong, their digestion good and have no female weakness, it is a wonderful thing that nature has done! Let us see what nature has done, looking from the evolutionary point of view."

If the living form of matter was ever born by virtue of the action of natural forces, the event must have been a most marvellous one. The conditions of which differed from the existing conditions of our globe, for such formation of natural matter does not seem to be realized among us. Under these special conditions of the medium living matter must have appeared in the most simple, the most rudimentary condition, but beginnings are always humble and little differentiated.

We can conceive nothing of this kind more simple than droplets, more or less minute, of a substance comparable with albumen or protoplasm, and these droplets, as they changed, to be established within it.

—Armand Sabatier in Popular Science Monthly.

Presents for Mr. Gladstone.

Some of the golden wedding presents sent to Mr. Gladstone, who is now in the United States, are shown in the accompanying illustration. There are half a dozen golden miniature axes, with various inscriptions on the blades. One ax in silver, made to serve as a pencil case, caught my fancy. It was a present from the Princess of Wales, and had the inscription, "For axing questions." There is a close intimacy between her royal highness and Mr. Gladstone.

There are some wonderful presents of jewelry from the shah of Persia and others. On a prominent table stands a large solid gold double inkstand, the gift of the Princess of Wales, but perhaps the little gold model of an afternoon tea service from a few workmen is testimony as strong of a desire that this political king may "live for ever."

Mr. Drew says that the illuminations and fireworks which will be given by Mr. Gladstone has had in his life, and which are now scattered all over Hawarden castle, must represent a sum of £5,000.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Poet's Remark to the Lion Hunters.

Fresh interest is revived in the old anecdotes of Lord Tennyson, and among them is one told of a lady of the English "lion hunter" indigenous to the lion hunters of the world, and one of Tennyson's country houses, and after pestering the poet with invitations to luncheon and dinner for months, she finally prevailed upon him to come and meet a party of friends who were "dying to know him."

During the winter of 1886-7 a petrified frog was found in a quarry near Elmira, N. Y., which was two feet eight inches in length, and weighed over 100 pounds. This is the largest specimen of fossilized frog yet brought to light.

Filling for Cracks in the Floor.

If the boards of a floor do not fit perfectly, have the spaces filled with putty or with a mixture which has been often recommended of late, of newspapers soaked in a paste made of flour and water. The proportions of this are one pound of flour, one quart of water, and one tablespoonful of powdered alum. The newspapers should be torn into bits, and the whole thoroughly boiled and mixed until of the consistency of putty. It may be colored with a little of the staining mixture, and should be forced into the cracks with a knife, when it will soon become hard and dry like paper mache.—Christian Union.

ARTIFICIAL PRODUCTION OF LIFE.

Will the Chemist Ever Be Able to Do What Nature Has Done?

Will chemistry ever be able to produce living albumen capable of actively performing the part of a leaf, and endowed with sufficient instability to go through all the combustions, splittings and demotions that lead to dissimulation and excretion? It seems to me that we are permitted to hope for it. But with what limits will this power of the chemist be limited?

Will he ever be able to make a living being? Will he succeed in making even a simple cell, a grain of starch, a muscular fiber, or any sharply and differentiated element? It is not enough to ask the chemist to be as powerful as nature! The question is then reduced to, Will the chemist be able to do what nature has done? Let us see what nature has done, looking from the evolutionary point of view.

If the living form of matter was ever born by virtue of the action of natural forces, the event must have been a most marvellous one. The conditions of which differed from the existing conditions of our globe, for such formation of natural matter does not seem to be realized among us. There are half a dozen golden miniature axes, with various inscriptions on the blades. One ax in silver, made to serve as a pencil case, caught my fancy. It was a present from the Princess of Wales, and had the inscription, "For axing questions." There is a close intimacy between her royal highness and Mr. Gladstone.

There are some wonderful presents of jewelry from the shah of Persia and others. On a prominent table stands a large solid gold double inkstand, the gift of the Princess of Wales, but perhaps the little gold model of an afternoon tea service from a few workmen is testimony as strong of a desire that this political king may "live for ever."

Mr. Drew says that the illuminations and fireworks which will be given by Mr. Gladstone has had in his life, and which are now scattered all over Hawarden castle, must represent a sum of £5,000.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Poet's Remark to the Lion Hunters.

Fresh interest is revived in the old anecdotes of Lord Tennyson, and among them is one told of a lady of the English "lion hunter" indigenous to the lion hunters of the world, and one of Tennyson's country houses, and after pestering the poet with invitations to luncheon and dinner for months, she finally prevailed upon him to come and meet a party of friends who were "dying to know him."

During the winter of 1886-7 a petrified frog was found in a quarry near Elmira, N. Y., which was two feet eight inches in length, and weighed over 100 pounds. This is the largest specimen of fossilized frog yet brought to light.

THE CANE AND THE MAN.

A Thoughtless Fellow Created Considerable Havoc with a Stick.

He was a portly and dignified business man of Oakland, and he crossed on the narrow gauge boat Enchanted to San Francisco yesterday afternoon, accompanied by a stalwart cane. The boat was a little late in reaching the slip at the mole, and the passengers from three trains were waiting when the doors were opened. The man with the cane crossed the lower deck, and grasping the stair rail, he stepped on the foot of a passenger who was seated on the upper deck, and prepared to ascend.

Half way up he dropped a little parcel he held in his hand, and stooped to pick it up. As he did so the iron ferrule of his cane struck the chin of a charming society belle of Oakland, who was directly behind him. There was a fearful crash, and the lady's head was thrown back, and a momentary backward movement of the crowd which caused the man with the cane to turn and look behind him, the cane traversing a semicircle about his retreating form as he moved. It caught a well known politician from the Bay City directly in the ear, administered a gentle tap on the cheek of a leading actress, and captured the hat from the head of an indignant woman, whose vociferous protest reached the ears of the unconscious offender, who, anxious to learn if the whole crowd had gone mad, made another turn.

The cane took a downward course this time, playing its iron point gently but firmly just above the last vest button of a rising young attorney who had been just about to serve an injunction on the offending rod. Instead he executed an involuntary obeisance, and the wand of subjection passing over his head, describing a parabola, it cut down through the cloud of semicircular profanity that was beginning to impart a bluish tinge to the atmosphere, prodded the eye of one passenger, filled playfully the nose of another, and finished up its work by catching in the back hair of its original victim. There is no knowing what developments might have followed the next turn had not a quick witted passenger reached and with his hand struck down the projecting point, with a forcible injunction to the bearer to keep it down.

It took the battered passengers the whole time of the trip across to take account of the damages sustained, and when the boat reached the wharf they were still debating whether they should pitch the fool with the cane overboard.—San Francisco Call.

Ancient Beards.

The ancient Jews considered it the greatest insult that could be offered to a man to "pluck his beard," which may account in part for the wonderful state of preservation that tradition has connected with the beard of the Old World male. It was a notion of the Mohammedans that, though Noah reached his thousandth birthday, no hair of his blessed beard fell off or became white; but the Mohammedans had no more authority for that than for their belief that the devil has but one solitary long hair for a beard.

It was, as some say, in order to distinguish themselves from the ancient Egyptians that the followers of Mohammed cropped the beard; but Mohammed, as we know, sanctioned the dyeing of the beard and preferred a cane color, because that was the traditional hue of Abraham's beard. More than that, have we not the common Mohammedan oath, "By the beard of my prophet," and such as the supplication, "By your beard, O life of your beard?"—English Illustrated Magazine.

Ice Preserved Meat.

Ice has been used for preserving for more than a quarter of a century with the greatest advantage in the fishing fleet, of which it has entirely modified the work, but it was not till 1875 that it began to be seriously employed for the preservation of meat during its transport from America to Europe, nor till 1879 that the Bell, Coleman and Maslin refrigerators, which have rendered possible the trade in frozen carcasses, were introduced. American frozen fresh meat was brought into our markets in 1876, Australian in 1880 and New Zealand in 1882, and yet, though their commences are so near to us, the three together now represent a third of all the meat sold in London.—Blackwood's Magazine.

QUARTERLY REVIEW.

LESSON XII, FOURTH QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, DEC. 18.

A Comprehensive Review of the Lessons of the Fourth Quarter, Acts ix to xv. Inclusive—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

LESSON I.—Saul's Conversion (Acts ix, 1-20). Golden text (John iii, 9). "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." Saul had an excellent character and standing in the eyes of his fellow men, and in his own estimation, but a sight of Jesus made him count all as dross (Phil. iii, 4-11). Saul was chosen that he might bear the name of Jesus, manifest the life of Jesus and suffer great things for his sake.

LESSON II.—Anas and Dorcas (Acts ix, 22-40). Golden text (Acts ix, 36). "This man was full of good works and also deeds which she did." Saul being persecuted at Damascus came to Jerusalem and was received by the apostles, who were at first afraid of him, through the commendation of Barnabas, after which he went to Tarsus, his birthplace. This lesson speaks of the great work which God is doing in the world, and of the great work which God is doing in the world, and of the great work which God is doing in the world.

LESSON III.—Peter's Vision (Acts ix, 40-48). Golden text (Acts ix, 36). "Of a truth I perceive that God has visited this people." The church thus far was gathered only from the Jews, but it was the purpose of God to gather an elect company of all nations, and to make them his people. The church thus far was gathered only from the Jews, but it was the purpose of God to gather an elect company of all nations, and to make them his people.

LESSON IV.—Peter at Caesarea (Acts ix, 30-48). Golden text (Acts ix, 36). "Through his name whosoever believeth in Him shall receive remission of sins." Peter having arrived at the house of Cornelius, he found the presence of all the story of the angel's visit, and it is informed that they are all waiting to hear what God has commanded him to say. He preaches to them Jesus—His life, death and resurrection. His anointing by the Spirit and the power of God manifest in Him, and that all who receive Him receive in Him the forgiveness of sins. Those hearing believed and received the gift of the Holy Spirit, even though they had never been circumcised.

LESSON V.—Christians at Antioch (Acts xii, 1-17). Golden text (Ps. xxviii, 7). "The angel of the Lord encampeth about them that love Him, and delivereth them." We now return to Jerusalem to find James, the brother of John, gone to be with Jesus, and Peter in prison apparently alone to follow him. While the church is given up to earnest prayer.

LESSON VI.—Peter delivered from prison (Acts xii, 1-17). Golden text (Ps. xxviii, 7). "The angel of the Lord encampeth about them that love Him, and delivereth them." We now return to Jerusalem to find James, the brother of John, gone to be with Jesus, and Peter in prison apparently alone to follow him. While the church is given up to earnest prayer.

LESSON VII.—Peter and the Spirit (Acts xii, 1-17). Golden text (Ps. xxviii, 7). "The angel of the Lord encampeth about them that love Him, and delivereth them." We now return to Jerusalem to find James, the brother of John, gone to be with Jesus, and Peter in prison apparently alone to follow him. While the church is given up to earnest prayer.

We now return to Jerusalem to find James, the brother of John, gone to be with Jesus, and Peter in prison apparently alone to follow him. While the church is given up to earnest prayer.

LESSON IX.—Blessing for the Gentiles (Acts xiii, 1-43). Golden text (Acts xiii, 43). "To you is the word of the salvation sent." Leaving Cyprus they cross to the mainland, where Paul returns to Jerusalem. Paul and Barnabas are next found in the synagogue in Antioch in Pisidia, and being invited to speak Paul preaches the gospel, and many were converted.

LESSON X.—Blessing for the Gentiles (Acts xiii, 1-43). Golden text (Acts xiii, 43). "To you is the word of the salvation sent." Leaving Cyprus they cross to the mainland, where Paul returns to Jerusalem. Paul and Barnabas are next found in the synagogue in Antioch in Pisidia, and being invited to speak Paul preaches the gospel, and many were converted.

LESSON XI.—The Apostolic Council (Acts xv, 1-29). Golden text (Acts xv, 1). "Methinks the grace of the Lord our Father be saved even to them." Paul and Barnabas were sent to Antioch to see people receiving the free gift of God, and send out apparently as missionaries. Light shines upon the fact that Jesus and not Jesus only—who saves. If he can make people believe that any thing is necessary in addition to the finished work of Christ, he is not a true Christian. He is a false prophet, and he is a false prophet.

WHAT THE CROWDS LIKE.

Verbal Froth and Sparkle Suit Their Taste Better Than Solid Logic.

In the past quarter of a century only three men have ever said anything in a national political convention which the general public remembered. These were Roscoe Conkling when he nominated Grant, Robert Ingersoll when he nominated Blaine and General Bragg when he seconded the nomination of Cleveland eight years ago. Even Depew, graceful fable talker that he is, wearing the Minneapolis convention by a speech which had nothing remarkable about it except its immortality. Much was promised for Mr. De Witt, of Brooklyn, when he came to nominate Governor Hill at Chicago, but the reports of his speech indicate that it was turgid, "dry as summer dust," and altogether dreary. He endeavored to "rise to an occasion," but the occasion eluded him, and his effort did him no credit.

The truth is, with the average orator it is that he fails to catch the spirit of those whom he addresses. It seldom occurs to him that an impatient crowd can only be reasoned with in the lightest lines of speech; that crisp, bright, sententious declarations are accepted with shouts where argument would fall upon unwilling ears, and that the only way to succeed can only be achieved by striking out from the beaten paths. But it frequently happens that in the effort to depart from the old lines of thought the orator only betrays his weakness and meets with failure where he had expected success.

The truth is, men will not listen to the reading of a president's message; neither will they hear nor heed the announcement of comparative statistics. These things they can read with profit and pleasure in their own homes, at their own times and in their own way. When they get together in a public assembly, the resultant contact develops the animal in them. They are exhilarated, nervous, full of magnetism, restless and in anticipation of something that will give them an opportunity to "uncork themselves." The man who can supply this want is the successful politician, orator, or speaker.

He must be brief and bright, strong in lung power and distinct in enunciation. These qualities bring relief to the crowded and nervous assembly, and they are a vast audience, and the selected magnetism thereafter carries forward through the orator and the listener.—St. Louis Republic.

Smokestacks for Ten Blocks.

It is a wonder that a big corporation has not been formed before now to build smokestacks for general use. Immense chimneys might be built, say one for every ten blocks, and the smoke from all the furnaces, stoves and private and public heating apparatus diverted to them by means of pipes laid under ground. This system, if carried into effect, would give every manufacturer and user of coal better draft than his smokestacks give him now, because they are so far away from the city. It would be built higher.

If they were all constructed high enough they would carry the smoke into the upper currents, where it would be blown into the clouds, or at least far away from the city. This scheme may look like a big and expensive one to undertake, but I don't think it any more chimerical than coal storage or pneumatic tubes for commercial use.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Skunks, Locomotives and Superstition.

A locomotive engineer remarks that he never made a run in his life at night that he did not strike several skunks. For some reason the skunks are attracted to the railroad track, and when the locomotive thunders along at night the rays of the headlight blind the little pests, and they are ground to death under the wheels of the iron horse. The entire train crew immediately knows it when a skunk has been struck. Most engineers are very superstitious and have a "sign" about skunks. If they run a long time at night without striking one they believe an accident is due.—Atchison Globe.

Reading the Lines at the Wrist.

The rascette or magic bracelet is, according to authorities on palmistry, to be found at the base of the hand, and is the line or lines which mark the junction of hand and wrist. One such line, if unbroken, deep and strongly marked, is supposed to foretell a happy life and to indicate calmness of disposition; if the line is chained—that is, crossed and recrossed by numerous small lines—the indication is of a hating, laboring, and long life, while three from the magic bracelet, adding great riches to the other blessings. The addition of the third line to the other two is rare. Desbarres, the great authority on palmistry, found it in only three cases, and when he found it he said it was a sign of great wealth and success.

Columbian Pans.

Some years ago in Paris they were discussing the discoveries of Columbus, and the Frenchman, the late Lord Lytton, "Colomb, I should explain, is the French for Columbus, and a colombe is the French for a dove." "It is very singular," some one observed, "that a colombe discovered the Old World and Le Colomb discovered the new." "Yes," replied Lord Lytton, "but infinitely more curious that the one came from Noah and the other came from Genoa."—London Truth.

Obstinate Jurymen.

Instances of the obstinacy of one jurymen out of the twelve are by no means rare. In a case recently tried when taken to task by the judge, "no man is more open than I am to conviction and to do what is right in every case, but I have not met with the same consideration in others. It has generally been my lot to be in a jury with eleven of the most obstinate men who will not listen to reason."—London Tri-Bits.

COL. GRAHAM, OF POSEY COUNTY.

He Registers in His English Clothes, but He'll Never Do It Again.

Colonel Graham, late of Posey county, Ind., had a very frolicful time at the board of registry in his district.

"Why, do you know," the colonel said, "I never was so insulted in my life. It was perfectly awful. There was a regular bench show of inspectors there, sir."

The colonel has recently returned from London. He is very proud of being an American, but of course when a man lives for six months in England he buys some English clothes. At any rate the colonel did. "These clothes are all right in their way," said the colonel, looking down with pride at his long brown overcoat, with plaits marking the top of the skirts in the back; "they're all right, don't you know, except that they are a bit noticeable in New York. Now what right had that inspector to talk to me in that way? What right, sir?"

"It wasn't so much what those inspectors said," grumbled the colonel, "but it was the nasty way they said it. When I entered the room a man with whiskers jumped up and pushed a Bible violently against my breast. 'I recovered my breath he shouted:

"Take off that hat!"

"Now, what do you think of that inspector? Why of course I took off my hat. I also advised the man to be less abrupt, and to calm down just a little. He really made me nervous. The fellow then mumbled something, ending up with 'So up you go, kiss the book.' Then he shouted, 'Put on that hat!' Now, is that the regular proceeding? It isn't! Well, then, what do you think of that inspector? He didn't stop there, but looking at me very hard, he said: 'Now, mind where you were born. I was born here, I said.

"H'm," said the fellow. "A native, eh?"

"Why, certainly, sir," said I, "I was born in Poseyville, Posey."

"Now, mind where you were born," he interrupted. "You're a native, eh?"

"I gave him my address and some other personal details, and he said: 'That's all. You may go.'"

"These proceedings were a bit irregular, you say? Well if they were not, I don't think I could get him to do a little work for me. All men must be orators or editors or ward bosses or even patient listeners, but any man with arms and legs can carry a kerosene torch around the streets, and come reasonably near keeping step with a band.

The theory is that the fidelity of the voter who undertakes such simple political labor is clinched, and that his example has an effect besides on the unmorgized multitude. Of course the shiner his helmet is and the more elaborate his costume, the farther his example will reach; so that a very considerable sum of money are spent every four years in tricking him out and paying the musicians whom he follows.—Harper's Weekly.

His Wife Were with Him.

The industrious nocturnal house-breaker had visited unbidden some of the nurse's bedrooms at the St. Annas infirmary, Dartmouth park, and was getting off with a goodly booty, which was fortunately only five shillings in cash, when on passing out of the grounds by the outer gate he found himself face to face with a policeman. It was not time for dallying, and a direct "bolt" was in the circumstances practicable. The ready wit of the burglar, however, at once suggested a likely ruse. "Quick," said he to the constable, "you're wanted inside. They've got a violent lunatic there, and I've got to go for further assistance."

Suited the action to the word he bolted off. The unsuspecting officer, on reaching the hall of the infirmary, discovered that the "violent lunatic" was a figure of speech; that a robbery had just been committed, and that if the escaped stranger wanted assistance at all it was certainly not of the kind he was loath to get from him.—London Letter.

The Mohammedan Judgment Day.

The Koran, sura lxxxi, has this to say concerning the general "judgment day," which nearly all religions teach in common: "When the sun shall be folded up; and when the stars shall fall; and when the mountain shall be made to pass away; and when the wild beasts shall be gathered together; and when the seas shall boil; and when souls shall again be joined to their bodies; and when the girl who hath been buried alive shall ask for what crime she was put to death; and when the books shall be laid open; and when the heavens shall be removed; and when hell shall be brought near, then shall every soul know what it hath wrought."—St. Louis Republic.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The next term of the General Court will convene at the Capitol in Boston on Wednesday, Jan. 4, prox., and it looks now as though a large share of the officers of the last and previous sessions, including Speaker Barrett of the lower branch, would be elected.

The length of the session has been limited by those in authority to 16 weeks, which will bring the final adjournment on or very near May 1, an arrangement which ought to commend itself to the approval of everybody.

THE PROPER THING.

It is said that on the organization of the new city government the Aldermen will give Mr. Lincoff of Ward 6 the seat claimed by him and thus compel Mr. Dearborn to seek his remedy in the courts if he has any.

As Lincoff made out a strong case at the recent and it is generally believed he was elected, and to take the course which it is now said the Aldermen have determined on would seem to be the wisest one.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

The Journal wishes everybody a HAPPY NEW YEAR, "and many returns of the same."

Mr. Charles S. O'Neill of this city, formerly Editor of the Woburn City Press, and previously for several years Editor of the Boston Budget, has a permanent engagement as contributor to Donohoe's Magazine of Boston, of which Mr. O'Neill is a polished writer and has been for a long time prominent in Boston literary circles. Donohoe will find him a valuable member of its corps of workers for he is bright, interesting and "cultured" fully up to the high Boston standard.

Mr. Charles A. Jones of the Five Cents Savings Bank is a candidate for the office of City Auditor. He is an expert accountant and as such was chosen for the position in Mayor Johnson's administration and filled it with fidelity and to everybody's satisfaction.

We are informed that the contest for the City Clerkship will be between Mr. Alvah S. Wood and Mr. E. H. Lonsbury. After the first ballot they will be the only candidates in the field. Either of them would make a model City Clerk.

Our Woburn dealers in holiday goods enjoyed a fine trade during Christmas week and were happy. The pains which the JOURNAL took to inform the people of neighboring towns of the preparations which our merchants had made to supply the demand for holiday gift goods bore rich fruit in the shape of a big business from people outside of our city. We had an idea it would fetch them here and it did.

On Tuesday morning John W. Johnson, Esq., handed me a copy of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch of Dec. 18, which contained in its "Real Estate" column an announcement of some recent deals in city lots by our former townsman Mr. Samuel H. One of the recommendations which was made to you in my Inaugural Address, was the erection of a new Armory building. For several years the military organization has been agitated but no action has been taken. The present year, 1892, a lot of land situated on the corner of Montvale Ave. and Prospect street was purchased and an Armory building erected for the use of the military organization. This building is large and well arranged, and compares favorably with the best of the kind in the city.

The Fourth District Court has occupied for many years a portion of the Municipal building which has been inadequate for its needs. A side in my Inaugural Address to provide suitable accommodations for the Court and Police Department. This has been accomplished by utilizing the old Armory building which has been completely renovated throughout. No change has been made in the basement for Lockup purposes, and the new building will be only three (3) dark dismal cells, which were a disgrace to our city.

The only wonder is that we have not been indicted for neglecting to provide accommodations for the Court and Police Department. Among the changes made have been the addition of eleven (11) new modern built Cells, well lighted and ventilated. Outside the floor of the building and facing Common street is located the office of the Chief of Police and the Court. Outside the building are lockers and bathroom for the Patrolmen. In the centre of the building is situated the Court room, which is provided with the most modern and comfortable furniture. The Court room is also provided with a large number of lockers and a bathroom for the Court and Police Department.

On the 23rd of last night, to wit, Dec. 23, 1892, Waterman Brown, the veteran Boston & Lowell Railroad engineer, Brooks Tay and Michael Deans, all young fellows full of life, vigor and fun, skated from Charlestown to Woburn on the old Middlesex canal in their shirt-sleeves. Just after night, when each had taken a Tom-and-Jerry at the old Charlestown Tavern, they struck out and made no stop until they took off their skates at a point on the canal about where the Public Library now stands. Although it was as cold as last Monday night the boys were no coats during the trip and had no idea of freezing there. Would any of our youngsters undertake such a thing now?

Mayor Thompson's Farewell Address.

Gentlemen of the City Council:

At the inauguration of the City Council of 1892 in Jan. last, I had the honor to present to you a report and to lay before you recommendations to be considered by you, gentlemen, during the year. As public servants it seems proper that we should render to you the same service this year.

I know that persons holding public offices must expect criticism in the discharge of their official duties. If this criticism be made honestly it may prove beneficial. But when officials are the objects of personal attacks, either from public platforms or from the circulation of malicious rumors and anonymous letters, containing insinuations and untruths, published in the newspapers, these false reports must injure the municipality. Such printed matter circulating among thousands unacquainted with our city, certainly does not advertise it favorably.

Statements of all that has been said to the contrary, I believe that this Administration will show as good a record as any in the past. Therefore I take this opportunity to lay before you in part the work begun and completed during the present Administration.

Our schools as heretofore have maintained their high reputation and have justly won the credit of the community. Our city, both within and without the Almshouse, have been well and comfortably cared for under the wise direction of the Overseers of the Poor, and the efficient management of the Master and Matron of the Almshouse.

Pure spring water has continued to flow from the reservoir into nearly all of our dwellings. Extensions having been made during the year through several city streets, to localities not before supplied.

Six new and Combination Wagons have been purchased by the City for the use of the Fire Department in place of the old Horse Carriages which have been in use for over twenty (20) years. This making our Fire Department with its equipments, second to none in its vicinity.

Several important improvements have been made on our Highways. Namely:—The widening and improving of Salem St. in connection with the widening of the East Middlesex R.R. track; this makes that street in better condition than ever before. These deeds of the hand taken for the widening were obtained without cost, and are now held by the city. The improvements on the northern part of Main street have been completed. The Water Dept. has been completed. The Water Dept. has been completed. The Water Dept. has been completed.

Mr. A. A. Ferrin was appointed and continued in this office in July last. There was considerable delay in the work of this office made by some of our citizens when this new office was created. But it will be seen by the foregoing ordinance that the work of this office is now being carried on in a most efficient manner. The City. There are thirty (30) public buildings belonging to the City, including Schools, Almshouse, Fire Department Buildings, Armory, Municipal Building, Court House, and others, with a total valuation of public property amounting to over $300,000. It is to be readily seen that the care of so much property must require much time and attention, and as any unprejudiced person must acknowledge.

REDUCTION OF DEBT. The first of last July, $200,000 of 6 per cent. Water Loan expired. The loan was liquidated by the payment of $70,000 from the Sinking Fund, and by issuing notes or bonds amounting to $130,000, divided into thirty (30) series of ten $1,000 notes; $10,000 made payable in each of the thirty successive years; which is the period of time allowed by law for the payment of the loan. The Water Dept. has been completed. The Water Dept. has been completed. The Water Dept. has been completed.

Mr. A. A. Ferrin was appointed and continued in this office in July last. There was considerable delay in the work of this office made by some of our citizens when this new office was created. There are thirty (30) public buildings belonging to the City, including Schools, Almshouse, Fire Department Buildings, Armory, Municipal Building, Court House, and others, with a total valuation of public property amounting to over $300,000. "Mayfair" at the Museum has been largely attended and "Prisoners of the Museum" Company. There are many opportunities in "Mayfair" to show the ability of the criminal mind. "Mayfair" will remain for next week only, and on Jan. 9, "Agatha" will be the attraction for one week only.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Tidings of joy and gladness will be heard at the Grand Opera House next week when the management of this popular theatre will extend to its many patrons, a most happy and gladness New Year. For the opening attraction of 1893, a better or more pleasing dramatic offering could not be presented than the one secured for this occasion. It is "The Burglar," from the pen of the famous playwright, Mr. Augustus Thomas, and it has been one of the most successful stage attractions for the past two seasons. "The Burglar" will be followed by "Ole Oleson," a very popular play.

THE PARK.

Hoyt's "A Temperance Town" opened the fourth week of its engagement at the Park theatre on Monday, and it has been a success, and they heartily appreciated how suitable an attraction Mr. Hoyt's latest success is for the holidays especially, and for this season of the year. In scene and action it is natural and home-like, the time being when the snow whistles the ground, and location being a country town where the characters revive old memories, and furnish no end of amusement by their droll ways as they quarrel over the temperance question. This attraction broke the Park theatre's record for big business on Monday. Both houses, matinee and evening, were the largest in the history of the Park theatre.

THE BOSTON.

"Babies in the Woods" still continue to attract full houses at the Boston. Manager Tompkins has placed an entertainment before his patrons that is highly pleasing and no expense has been spared in producing it. "The Babies (Jack and Jane)" are full of fun. The ballet is superb while the dancing of Stambuloff, Suzanne Florio, and Sig. Biancori is exquisite. There are many catchy features and expressions of delight are heard from all.

"Familiar in Our Mouths."

"The name of no medicinal plant is more 'familiar in our mouths' than that of 'Sarsaparilla.' The use of this root as a specific for scrofulous diseases was introduced into Europe about the middle of the sixteenth century. It was, however, about two hundred years later, when Sir William Fordeyce and other eminent English physicians began to administer the remedy, that it first took a prominent position in the pharmacopoeia. Owing, probably, to the crude and primitive methods of extracting its medicinal properties, sarsaparilla was still but little known or used until some forty years ago, when Dr. J. C. Ayer, by an original and scientific process, first effected his famous compound extract. As soon as this preparation, under the name of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, was brought to the notice of the medical world, it obtained a large sale, and since then the demand has gone on increasing, until now it has attained proportions that are simply enormous. The J. C. Ayer Company, of Lowell, import annually vast quantities of the sarsaparilla root direct from Honduras, where it is found richest in medicinal properties; and the superior quality of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is due not only to the careful selection of the raw material and to scientific methods of extraction, but equally to the skillful admixture of other remedial agencies, such as yellow dock, stillingia, and the iodide of potassium—the result being a blood-purifier, which, for potency as well as economy, cannot be approached by any other preparation of the kind in the world.

Burlington.

Rev. John H. Larry of Providence, R. I., Editor of the Independent Citizen, will deliver his new and interesting lecture on "Points of Progress." Mr. Larry is too well known to require recommendation. Every G. A. R. man knows him. No one who has once heard him will miss the opportunity to hear him again.—CHARLES A. HENRY.

Mr. Abram English Brown of Bedford, who was announced to lecture Tuesday evening, was unable to come on account of sickness, but his place was ably filled by Rev. W. J. Batt of the Concord Reformatory, who gave a fine lecture on "Prison Life." It is to be regretted that our people do not improve the opportunity given them of hearing first-class lectures and concerts at a merely nominal sum.

The Sunday School Christmas entertainment of Monday evening at the Church was a decided success. The entertainment was very pleasing. Mr. Russell's recitation called forth much applause. The children then marched to the parlor, where a beautiful collation was served. The tables were very inviting in appearance, being tastefully arranged. The remainder of the evening was spent in sociability.

Complimentary.

"Politeness is better than logic," says Rufus R. Wade of the Massachusetts District Police. One can often persuade when you cannot convince. The Chief is another of Boston's men who is liked for his affability. Friends he has by the thousands, and is adding to the list every day many more. He was the first officer given charge of that department, and with it he has grown up. With two men at the start he was appointed to execute a certain law and now has several score of men and as many laws to look after.—Boston News.

If anybody knows what true politeness is worth to a man, as he passes along through the world it is our esteemed friend Chief Rufus R. Wade of Boston. He's been there and appreciates its value.
